

Table of Contents

Part I

The Parmenides Commentary

1. Short History of the Text	17
2. Text and Translation	18
3. Text	21
4. Translation of the Fragments of the Commentary	37

Part II

Description, Discussion, and Philosophical Interpretation of the Doctrines of the Parmenides Commentary, its Background and its Pre-suppositions

1. Introduction	67
2. Two Preliminary Remarks	68
I. Background and Philosophical Environment
a) Plato's Parmenides
1. The Dialogue and its Tradition	71
2. Proclus' View of the Tradition	73
b) Some Middle Platonic Foundations and Questions of Chronology
1. Introductory Remarks	77
2. Numenius	78

3. The Concept of Transcendence in the Middle Platonists and Plotinus	86
4. Some Remarks on the Chronology of later Middle Platonism	88
5. Two Points against P. Hadot's Position	90
c) The Neopythagoreans
1. In General	91
2. The Commentary	94
3. Nicomachus of Gerasa	98
4. Eudorus of Alexandria	103
5. Moderatus of Gades	107
6. Speusippus	111

II. Description and Discussion of the Fragments and their Platonic Lemmata

Fragment I

1. The Platonic Lemma	119
2. The Discussion in the Commentary	120

Fragment II

1. The Question of Predications	122
2. The Platonic Lemma	133
3. Philosophical Discussion of the Lemma	134
(i) Identity and Difference	134
(ii) Similarity/Dissimilarity and Equality/Inequality	135
4. The Discussion in the Commentary	137

Fragment III

1. Genre and Length of the Commentary	147
2. The Text of the Lemma	148
3. The Platonic Lemma	149

4. Philosophical Discussion of the Lemma	151
5. The Discussion in the Commentary	153

Fragment IV

1. The Platonic Lemma	156
2. The Discussion in the Commentary	159
3. Further Interpretations	162
4. Relation to the Stoics	163
5. Nature and Feature	165

Fragment V

1. The Platonic Lemma	167
2. The Discussion in the Commentary	168
(i) The Subject of the Second Hypothesis	168
(ii) Non-hierarchical (horizontal) Participation	170
(iii) Hierarchical (vertical) Participation	172

Fragment VI

1. The Platonic Lemma	175
2. The Discussion in the Commentary	175

III. Systematic Part: The Philosophy of the Commentary

The Mind and the One

1. Common Sense/Particular Senses	181
2. Δύναμις/Ενέργεια	186
3. God's Knowledge	190
4. The Role of Being	191
5. Participation	192
6. Δύναμις and Νοῦς Reconsidered	195
7. Mind as Monad?	197
8. Is the One different from Mind?	201
9. Identity and Difference	202

10. The "Intelligible Triad"	205
11. Coming into Being	210
12. Ascent to God	219

Part III

Questions of Chronology

The Chronology of the Commentary

Introduction
1. Preliminary Remark	221
2. Relevance of Proclus' Parmenides Commentary	221
3. The Question of a Tradition of Parmenides Interpretation	223
Fragment I
1. Maximum and Minimum	223
2. God	225
Fragment II
We and God	227
Fragment III
Time	236
Fragment IV
1. The Chaldaean Oracles	237
2. Negative Theology	242
3. The Role of the Stoics	246
4. Knowledge and Ignorance	247

Fragment V
1. Participation of Intelligibles	249
2. Existence and Essence	252
3. Derivation and Turning Back	255

Fragment VI
1. Utilization	258
2. The One as Intelligible Object	259
3. Ὑπαρξεις	260
4. Δύναμις	261
5. The Problem of Paronyms	262

Appendices

Appendix I
To Fragment III: Iamblichus' Conception of Time	265

Appendix II
The Commentary's Specific Philosophical Terminology ὑπόστασις (hypostasis)	271

Bibliography

Ancient Authors	277
Modern Authors	280