

Salvator Rosa,
Friendship and the Free Artist
in Seventeenth-Century Italy

ALEXANDRA HOARE

HARVEY MILLER PUBLISHERS

Contents

Acknowledgements	3
Images	5
Image Credits	13
Introduction	25
The Free Artist	25
Freedom in Friendship	31
Salvator Rosa as Amico Vero	33
Chapter One. Rosa as Actor: Reputation and the Performance of the Self	39
Reputation and Performing the Self	40
Rosa the Actor	41
Rosa as Coviello and Pascariello: Theatrical Masks as Modes of Self-Fashioning.	48
Stage-Fighting with Bernini	58
Chapter Two. Rosa as Academic: Academia as the Enterprise of Friendship	67
Academia and Amicitia	68
Rosa and the Medici	70
Rosa as Virtuoso : Academic Friendships and the Making of a Free Painter-Philosopher	72
Poetry and Performance.	81
Friends in Pisa.	86
Rosa, Academia and the Visual Arts	90
Academic Friends (and Foes) in Rome	101
Academia as Refuge, Retreat and Rebellion	110
Solitude in Friendship.	123
Percossi: What's in a Name?	125
Chapter Three. Rosa as Writer and Orator: Conversations, Letters and Poems as Rituals of Friendship	131
The Art of Conversation.	131
The Conversation of Art.	133
The Letter as Self and Friend	152
Amico Vero : Friendship and Sincerity in the Making of a Free Artist.	155
The Letters of Rosa's Friends	156
The Performance of Panegyric Poetry: Rosa in the Eyes of his Friends	158
Chapter Four. Rosa as Poet-Philosopher: The Friend as a Second Self	175
Rosa and Ricciardi	177
Rosa as Ricciardi	177
Allegorical Self-Portraiture: The Self Performed in Paint.	179

Humorology, Physiognomy and the Melancholic Poet-Philosopher	187
Poetic Melancholy.	191
Writing on a Skull.	195
The Portrait as a Memorial to Friendship: The Freundschaftsbild	205
The Gift as Self and Other: Making Absence into Presence	212
The Gift as Consolation	219
The Gift as Contest	221
The Night and the Moon	223
Chapter Five. Rosa as Artist: The Business of Friendship	229
The Artist's Value	229
Rosa and Money: A Thorny Relationship	231
Amico e Padrone	237
Rosa's Professional Paradox	238
Rosa as a "Pittore del dissenso"	240
Rosa as Purveyor of the Court.	241
Friends in High Places: Rosa and his Clientele	243
The Utility of Friendship	247
Building a Brand	255
Public Exhibition.	256
Printmaking	258
Copies and Originals.	265
Novelty in Subject and Style: "Né tocchi mai da nessuno"	272
Friendly Advice	279
What Price Freedom?	282
The Economics of the Friendly Gift.	287
Self-Portraits as Gifts	292
Drawings as Gifts.	294
Prints as Gifts	295
The Reality of Rosa's Financial Situation	300
Conclusion.	307
Author's Note	309
Notes	311
Bibliography	419
Index.	511