

THE YEARBOOK
OF
ENGLISH STUDIES

Series Editor

ANDREW HISCOCK

Margaret Oliphant and George Meredith

Guest Editor

REBECCA N. MITCHELL

Modern Humanities Research Association

Contents

	PAGE
Abstracts . . . . .	viii
Notes on Contributors . . . . .	xii
Introduction
REBECCA N. MITCHELL . . . . .	1
Margaret Oliphant's Fin-de-Siècle Novels
ELISABETH JAY . . . . .	11
From Walter Scott to John Addington Symonds: Margaret Oliphant Confronts the Nineteenth Century
JOANNE WILKES . . . . .	29
Mrs. Oliphant's Shopping: The Pleasures and Perils of Consumerism in Margaret Oliphant's Major Fiction
VALERIE SANDERS . . . . .	48
Margaret Oliphant and the Changing World of Victorian Journalism
JOANNE SHATTOCK . . . . .	67
George Meredith (and Margaret Oliphant) among the Pre-Raphaelites
REBECCA N. MITCHELL . . . . .	82
Diseases of City Life and One of Our Conquerors
SALLY SHUTTLEWORTH . . . . .	103
George Meredith, Labour and the Dark Body
MELISSA JENKINS . . . . .	120
George Meredith's Rhoda Fleming : Sexuality, Submission and Subversion
ALICE CROSSLEY . . . . .	137
Epigrammatic Inheritance: 'Writing in Lightning' in Meredith, Wilde and Le Gallienne
SEAN O'TOOLE . . . . .	155
Meredith Now, and Again
MARGARET HARRIS . . . . .	173