

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I: The Place of Evil and Theodicy in Barth's Theology

Barth's Doctrine of Evil and Theodicy as a Topic of Study	1
Methodology for this Study	4
The Study of Suffering	6

II: The Four Motifs in Barth's Doctrine of Evil and Their Development in His Early Theology

The Four Motifs in Barth's Doctrine of Evil	11
The Development of the Four Motifs in Barth's Early Theology	20

III: Evil and the Perfections of God

The Relationship of God's Freedom and Love	71
The Origin of Evil	74
Constancy, Omnipotence and the Necessity of Evil	78
God's 'Yes' and 'No'	91
Barth's 'Noetic Eschatology' and the Justification of God	97

IV: Evil and Barth's Doctrine of Election

The Eternal Decision of God	109
The Inevitability of the Fall	112
Universalism in Barth's 'Noetic Eschatology'	126

V: Evil and Creation

The 'Creation-Chaos' Conflict	131
Evil in Creation Under the 'Right and Left Hand of God'	150
The Justification of Creation in Barth's 'Noetic Eschatology'	166

VI: Das Nichtige

The Limited Scope of CD III/3, Section 50	181
Language and Nothingness	181
The 'Necessary Antithesis' as the Ontic Basis of Nothingness	184
The Battle Against Evil Under the 'Right and Left Hand of God'	198
The Defeat of Nothingness and the Problem of Theodicy	200

VII: Evil, the Work of Christ and Barth's Eschatology

The Two Separations of Evil in Barth's Doctrine of Reconciliation	207
The Separation of Evil from Creation	209
The Separation of the Old Sinful Nature From the New Person of Grace	215
Evil in the Time of the Community	223
The Prophetic Work of Christ	233

VIII: Theodicy, Suffering and the Church:
A Conclusion to Barth's Doctrine of Evil

The Four Motifs and a 'Barthian Theodicy'	257
Barth's Theodicy in Light of His Doctrine of Evil	262
Suffering and Barth's Theodicy	277
Theodicy and the Work of the Church	284

BIBLIOGRAPHY	295
---------------------	-----