

---

Willa Cather and the Arts

---

C A T H E R   S T U D I E S

Series Editor

1988–2004

Susan J. Rosowski, University of Nebraska–Lincoln

2005–19

Guy Reynolds, University of Nebraska–Lincoln

Board Members

Julie Olin-Ammentorp, Le Moyne College

Kari A. Ronning, University of Nebraska–Lincoln

David Stouck, Simon Fraser University

Robert Thacker, St. Lawrence University

---

C O N T E N T S

List of Illustrations   vii

Introduction: Willa Cather and the Arts   ix

GUY J. REYNOLDS

1. “A Lot of Things”: The Value of the Vernacular in Shadows on the Rock   1

DIANE PRENATT

2. “Down by de Canebrake”: Willa Cather, Sterling A. Brown, and the Racialized Vernacular   21

JANIS P. STOUT

3. The Singer as Artist: Willa Cather, Olive Fremstad, and the Artist’s Voice   44

SARAH L. YOUNG

4. Cather’s Evolving Ear:
Music Reheard in the Late Fiction   68

JOHN H. FLANNIGAN

5. Memory and Image: Graphemics for a
New Frontier Icon in My Ántonia   89

JOYCE KESSLER

6. “Paul’s Case” and Pittsburgh: Industry and
Art in the Great Manufacturing Town   125

JAMES A. JAAP

7. Under the White Mulberry Tree: Food and Artistry in Cather’s Orchards   152

STEPHANIE TSANK

8. "The Passionless Bride": Love, Loss, and
Lucretius in The Professor's House 171

MATTHEW HOKUM

9. Advertising Willa Cather as Product 192

ERIKA K. HAMILTON

Contributors 209

Index 213