

Contents

	Page
6 ENGELS AND DAS KAPITAL	391
7 THE GENERAL	415
8 ENGELS AND THE WORKING CLASSES 1850–1870
I The Workers in Britain	457
II The Workers in France	462
III The Workers in Germany	466
9 THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL 1864–1872
I The Founding of the First International	501
II Marx and the First International, 1864–70	505
III The International in England	508
IV The International in France	510
V The International in Germany	512
VI The International and the Labour Movement	515
VII The International and the Irish Question	517
VIII Engels and the General Council, 1870–2	520
IX The International and the Paris Commune, 1871	521
X Bakunin and the International	529
XI The International in Spain	537
XII The International in Italy	540
XIII The Hague Congress, 1872	541
10 MARX AND ENGELS: THE LAST PHASE 1870–1883	559

11 THE CHAMPION OF MARXISM 1872–1879	Page
I Anti-Bakunin, 1872–3	575
II Anti-Proudhon, 1872	577
III Anti-Blanqui, 1874	580
IV Anti-Lassalle, 1875	581
V Anti-Dühring, 1878	586
VI Anti-Höschberg, 1879	591
 12 ENGELS AS HISTORIAN	 601
 13 ENGELS AND THE GERMAN SOCIAL DEMOCRAT PARTY 1878–1890	 615
 14 THE LEADER OF THE ORCHESTRA 1883–1895
I The Legacy of Marx	657
II The Father of International Socialism	662
Germany: The Erfurt Programme – Austria: Victor Adler – France: Paul Lafargue – Italy: Filippo Turati – Britain: Eleanor Marx – Russia: Georgi Plekhanov
III The Second International	716
IV Conclusion	724
Death of Engels, 1895
Engels' Successors

Documents

I Address of the Central Committee of the Communist League to the Members of the League (by Karl Marx and F. Engels, March 1850)	763
II Real Causes why the French Proletariat remained comparatively Inactive in December last, 1852	774
III A Forecast of the Prussian Victory at Sedan, 1870	778
IV Prussian Franks-Tireurs, 1870	782
V The Military Aspect of Affairs in France, February 1871	786

	Page
VI Letters on Historical Materialism, 1890–1894	790
VII Socialism in Germany, 1891–1892	796
VIII Can Europe Disarm? (1893)	810
IX Frederick Demuth, 1898	833
BIBLIOGRAPHY	835
INDEX	841