

Table of contents

CHAPTER 1
Introduction: Food and talk in social life	1
Susanne Mühleisen and Sofia Rüdiger
Lifestylization and the global
CHAPTER 2
How less means more in the comments section of vegan food blogs: Exgredients such as gluten-free and extreme case formulations	15
Cornelia Gerhardt
CHAPTER 3
The moral taste of food: A discourse analysis of social media discussions about vegetarianism and veganism	35
Martina Drescher
CHAPTER 4
The local and the global in airline food	57
Markus Bieswanger
CHAPTER 5
Language in transnational communities of consumption: Indexical functions of English in Third Wave Coffee Culture	79
Britta Schneider
CHAPTER 6
Craft beer and linguistic lifestyle emblemization	99
Theresa Heyd and Marius Eckert
Mediatization and identity
CHAPTER 7
(Un)healthy food discourses: The contradictory roles of health in food discourses and identities in the production of a TV show about food	125
Jana Declercq

CHAPTER 8
Dinner for One: The use of language in eating shows on YouTube	145
Sofia Rüdiger
CHAPTER 9
“Tell me about food and I tell you who you are”: Expert identity in intercultural food discourse via Skype	167
Stefan Diemer and Marie-Louise Brunner
CHAPTER 10
Formality and informality in cooking shows: Paula Deen and the development of a genre	189
Susanne Mühleisen
Enculturation and localization
CHAPTER 11
A rich sauce of comedy: Talking and laughing about Italian food in digital spaces	211
Delia Chiaro
CHAPTER 12
Naming practices in Singapore’s hawker centres: Echoes of itineracy	235
Jakob R. E. Leimgruber
CHAPTER 13
Naming food in English in multilingual Cameroon	257
Eric A. Anchimbe
Index food and food names	277
Index	281