Preface xi

I INTRODUCTION

- 1. New Directions in Piagetian Theory and Research:
An Integrative Perspective 3
David M. Brodzinsky, Irving E. Sigel, and Roberta M. Golinkoff
 - Epistemological Perspective 5
 - Theoretical Perspective 8
 - Applied Perspective 16
 - Conclusions 22
 - References 24

II EPISTEMOLOGY

- 2. Sensorimotor Development: What Infants Do and How We Think About What They Do 29
Lewis P. Lipsitt
 - Stages and Structures in Development 30
 - Transitions and Learning Processes 32
 - References 37
- 3. Social Learning Theory and Cognitive Constructivism 39
Barry J. Zimmerman
 - References 48

4. Constructivism and Educational Practices	51
Charles D. Smock
Introduction	51
Piaget's Constructive Epistemology	53
Operational Theory of Intelligence	55
References	68
5. Continuities and Discontinuities in Structuralism and Constructivism	71
Rodney R. Cocking
Introduction	71
Aspects of Structuralism	72
Summary	85
References	85
6. The Concepts of Adaptation and Viability in a Radical Constructivist Theory of Knowledge	87
Ernst von Glasersfeld
References	94

III THEORY

7. Cognitive Development: Construction of New Structures or Construction of Internal Organizations	99
Pierre Mounoud
Piaget's Epistemological Theory	99
Piaget's Structural Approach	101
Cognitive Development as a Construction of New Formal Structures	101
Cognitive Development as a Construction of Internal Organizations (Models)	102
Models of Study of Cognitive Development	104
Experimental Approach	105
Conclusion	112

- 9. The Influence of Piagetian Theory on the Study of the Development of Communication 127
Roberta Michnick Golinkoff
- Final Comments 137
 References 140
- 10. The Conservation Paradigm: The Conservation of Conservation Research 143
Frank B. Murray
- Limitations of the Genevan Model 144
 The Conservation Paradigm 145
 The Logic of Conservation and Nonconservation Competence 147
 Nonstructural Paradigm Factors 150
 References 171
- 11. Confounding with Cognitive Style Factors: An Artifact Explanation for the Apparent Nonuniversal
 Incidence of Formal Operations 177
Edith D. Neimark
- An Artifact Explanation 178
 Implications for Future Research 183
 References 187
- 12. A Revised Interpretation of Piaget (1932) 191
James Youniss
- Summary of Relational Theory 191
 Differences from Standard Theories 194
 Implications 198
 Knowledge and Affect 199
 Conclusion 200
 References 201

13. Social Experience in the Development of Representational Thought: Distancing Theory 203

Irving E. Sigel

Conceptual Framework 205

The Process of Inquiry 209

Summary 212

Empirical Evidence for the Distancing Hypothesis 213

Conclusions 215

References 216

14. Functional and Structural Aspects of Rationality 219

Joseph Glick

References 227

IV APPLICATION

15. Application of Piaget's Theory to Education: The Preoperational Level 231

Constance Kamii

The Use of Piaget's Theory to Evaluate the Theories on which all Programs are based 231

The Use of Piaget's Theory to go Beyond the Best Practice Developed to Date 238

The Problem of Policy 261

References 263

16. Stages in the Development of Reading 267

David Elkind

Some Preliminary Concepts 267

Stages in the Development of Reading 272

Conclusion 278

References 279

Commentary on David Elkind: Stages in the Development of Reading 281

Herbert Zimiles

References 284

17. Education and Formal Thought—A Modest Proposal 285

Robert Karplus

Introduction	285
Reasoning Patterns	287
Proportional Reasoning	293
The Learning Cycle	301
Conclusion	309
References	310
Appendix: Paper Clips Tasks	312

18. Piaget and Education: The Contributions and Limits of Genetic Epistemology 315

Herbert P. Ginsburg

Conclusions	329
References	330

V MECHANISMS OF LEARNING: A Symposium Organized by George E. Forman

19a. Knowing How a Child Knows: Phase Three of Piaget and the Learning Process 333

Jeanette McCarthy Gallagher

19b. Learning and Development from a Piagetian Perspective: The Exceptional Child 339

D. Kim Reid

19c. The Power of Negative Thinking: Equilibration in the Preschool 345

George E. Forman

19d. The Role of Self-Directed Activity in Cognitive Development 353

Deanna Kuhn

19e. Learning Symposium: A Commentary 359

Eleanor Duckworth
