

CONTENTS

	PREFACE	v
1	INTRODUCTION	1
	an introduction to the Piagetian point of view	1
	what difference does a theory make?	6
	dispelling some doubts	9
	will all volunteers please take two steps forward?	14
	references	16
2	THE THEORY BEAST	17
	preliminary remarks	17
	the theory beast—first impressions	19
	general theoretical orientation	23
	the notion of stages	28
	mechanisms of development	32
	the impetus for change	35
	summary	37
	references	39
3	A FRAMEWORK FOR APPLYING THE THEORY: NINE PRINCIPLES	40
	introduction	41
	the principles	42
	summary	60
	references	61
4	VALUES AND GOALS	62
	conceptualization of goals	62
	goals for the physical and social environment of the classroom	65
	the people in the classroom	71
	the classroom environment revisited	74
	summary	94
	references	95
5	THE PREOPERATIONAL CHILD	97
	before and after	97
	the preoperational period: some general characteristics	105
	the preoperational period: a transition between stages	116
	summary	127
	references	128

6	DEVELOPMENTAL GUIDEPOSTS	129
	warning	129
	physical knowledge	133
	conventional knowledge	136
	logico-mathematical knowledge	139
	summary	153
	references	154
7	THE THINKING TEACHER	155
	what is a thinking teacher?	155
	observation and inference (finding out how children think and what they know)	157
	helping children become better thinkers	163
	summary	201
	references	202
8	THINKING ACTIVITIES	203
	some thoughts about thinking activities	203
	suggestions for activities	208
	putting ideas together: an integrated curriculum	250
	summary	256
	references	256
9	EVALUATING THE PROGRAM	258
	introduction: the why's , what's , and how's of assessment	258
	characterizing the classroom environment	267
	the effect of the classroom environment on the people in it	293
	summary	300
	references	301
10	BECOMING	303
	ways of beginning	303
	feeling at ease with theory	308
	keeping on track	315
	working with other adults	319
	last words	322
	references	323
	INDEX	325