
Contents

Preface	viii
PART 1
Influences and issues	1
1 Early influences: Rousseau and Froebel	3
2 Emancipation from situational constraints: Piaget and Vygotsky on play and drama	10
3 To feel with her senses awake: the legacy of Finlay-Johnson, Caldwell Cook and Hourd	17
4 A high art form in its own right: Peter Slade and child drama	28
5 From noun to verb: growth through English or development through drama?	38
6 Entering the secret garden: an end to romantic child centredness?	57
7 Daring to speak its name: national curricula and the current state of drama	77
PART 2
Applying theory to practice	91
Introduction: working with the practical activities – to the teacher	93
8 Where do you stand? Exploring your own ideological position	95

9	From private to public space: exploring the art form of drama	100
	Activity Sequence 1: creating and working individually with story	102
	Activity Sequence 2: bringing a story to a shared space	103
	Activity Sequence 3: working with the art form of drama	104
10	From phoneme to word level	110
	Activity Sequence 1: start-ups	111
	Activity Sequence 2: working with phonemes	112
	Activity Sequence 3: working with rhythm	113
	Activity Sequence 4: working with phonemes and rhythm	113
	Activity Sequence 5: working with blends and digraphs	114
	Activity Sequence 6: working with morphemes, prefixes and suffixes	115
	Activity Sequence 7: working with onset and rime	116
	Activity Sequence 8: working with compound words	117
	Activity Sequence 9: broadening the context	118
11	Working with text: poetry as an example	121
	Activity Sequence 1: first encounters	124
	Activity Sequence 2: performing the poem	125
	Activity Sequence 3: exploring imagery	127
	Activity Sequence 4: exploring point of view – a performance-based approach	129
	Activity Sequence 5: exploring point of view – a process approach	130
	Activity Sequence 6: working with ritual	131
	Activity Sequence 7: drafting (a stand-alone activity)	132
12	Teacher in role: the department store	136
	Activity Sequence 1: establishing context, focus and setting	139
	Activity Sequence 2: negotiating the learning contract	140
	Activity Sequence 3: a role-play simulation	141
	Activity Sequence 4: revisiting the learning contract	142
	Activity Sequence 5: developing context, setting, tension and role	143
	Activity Sequence 6: a meeting convention (spontaneous improvisation)	145

Activity Sequence 7: reflecting in and out of role	146
Activity Sequence 8: exploring time and perspective (non-naturalistic playing)	146
Activity Sequence 9: exploring tension, choice and consequences (spontaneous improvisation)	147
13 Working with play texts: Shakespeare as an example	151
Activity Sequence 1: working with cast lists	153
Activity Sequence 2: exploring historical context	154
Activity Sequence 3: working with stage directions	155
Activity Sequence 4: working with script	157
Activity Sequence 5: working with non-verbal signs	159
Activity Sequence 6: exploring tension and irony	160
Activity Sequence 7: thinking about overall design concepts	162
References	166
Index	174