

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgements	viii
1 Introduction: Re-fashioning the Victorians	1
Re-fashioning the past	7
Reading and writing dress: Texts and textiles	12
(Neo-)Victorian sartorial and material culture	16
Neo-Victorian fashions: Chapter outlines	25
2 Gowns	29
New materialism and neo-Victorianism	32
Dynamic dresses in The Master	39
Sartorial entanglements in Alias Grace	49
3 Gloves	65
Fashioning identity, agency and desire in Waters's neo-Victorian trilogy	67
'The impress of her hand': Victorian gloves	78
Neo-Victorian gloves: Touch, materiality and queer desire	85
Material traces of the past	91
4 Veils	99
Victorian veils	100
Neo-Victorian veils	108
Veils and canvases in The Ghost Writer : Revealing the past	111
Veils, bindings, skin: Concealing bodies and books in The Journal of Dora Damage	122
5 Jewellery	135
Ornamenting the Victorian woman	140
Heirlooms and afterlives: Jewellery in Great Expectations and Havisham	146

	'Talisman' turquoises and 'poisoned' diamonds in Daniel Deronda and Gwendolen	158
6	Conclusion	171
	References	179
	Index	197