

Contents

1	Prophecy and Cult	1
	Active and Passive Religious Experience	4
	Inductive and Subjective Prognostication	15
	Oracles and Prophets: The Agents of Subjective         Divination	22
	The Nature of Prophetic Inspiration	47
2	Scholars, Poets, and Sibyls	58
	Scholarship	61
	Prophecy in Literature	64
	Tradition and Transformation: The Case of the         Sibylline Oracles	71
	Readers and Writers of Prophetic Texts in the         Roman Empire	93
3	Prophecy and the Informed Public	98
	Oracular Responses to History	99
	The Emperor's Message	110
	Analyzing the Emperors' Messages	131
	Imperial History in the Sibylline Oracles	137

4	Prophecy and Personal Power in the Roman Empire	146
	The Republican Background	147
	Court Politics	158
	Prophecy and Political Unrest	171
5	Eastern Wisdom in Roman Prophetic Books	183
	East and West in Fact and Fiction	183
	Hermes Trismegistus and Julianus the Chaldean	192
	The Closing of the Roman Mind	206
	Epilogue: Power, Culture, and Communication	213
	Notes	219
	Index	273