

Contents

	Acknowledgements	IX
	Introduction	1
1	The Unphenomenal "This Nothing's More than Matter"	29
2	The Spectre of the Cartesian Subject	60
3	Misrepresentations Shakespeare and the Phenomenologists	102
4	What Phenomenology? Kant to Levinas	126
5	Spontaneous Me	161
6	The Harm That Good Men and Women Do	173
7	Affective styles	205
8	A Pastoral Philosophy	221
9	What Matters in Shakespeare?	237
10	Undialing the Dialectic	275
11	The Maladies of Abstinence No More Cakes and Ale	297
12	The Naturalization of Reason Who Is Afraid of Ferdinand Derrida?	323
13	Doing Shakespeare To the Things Themselves	391
14	Reading Shakespeare Is There a Text in This Play?	415

15	If Caliban Is a Chimpanzee and Other Posthumanist Conditions	427
16	The Aesthetic Ideology	450
17	The Aesthetic Fallacy	466
18	The Fallacy of Representation	502
19	The Fallacy of Immediacy	529
20	The Fallacy of Presentism	557
	Bibliographical References	587
	Index of Names	612