

Contents

List of Illustrations xi

Acknowledgments xiii

Introduction: Narrative Truthiness and Hybrid (Non)Fiction 1

PART 1. AUTOBIOGRAPHY AND MEMOIR

1. Telling What Is True: Truthiness and Figural Truths in Lauren Slater's Writing 35
2. In Pursuit of Truth in Life Narrative: Reading Michael Ondaatje's Running in the Family 57
3. Narrative Truthiness and the Author-Reader Contract: The Failure of Benjamin Wilkomirski's Memoir Fragments 73

PART 2. FICTION

4. Impossible Biographies: Theory and (Non)Fiction in Julian Barnes's Flaubert's Parrot 99
5. Narrative Truthiness, Connectivity, and Factuality in Fiction: The Case of Richard Powers's Three Farmers 115
6. Lost (in) History: Fact and Fiction in W. G. Sebald's Austerlitz 134

PART 3. OTHER GENRES AND MEDIA

7. Satire and Truth: Fake News, the Onion, and the Complex Nature of Narrative Truthiness 163
8. Conflicting Categories: Graphic Narratives and the Image of Truth 183

Conclusion: An Argument for Narrative Truthiness—Tim O'Brien and Using Complex Narrative to Counter Fake News 201

Notes 219

References 227

Index 237