

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	V
TABLE OF CONTENTS	VII
PREFACE: A Language between Experience and Faith by Dr. Walter J. HOLLENWEGER	XVII
INTRODUCTION	XXI
Status Quaestionis: Oral Narratives in Pentecostal Worship	XXII
The Scope of this Study	XXIII
The Methodological Procedure	XXVI
Basic Presuppositions and Preliminary Definitions	XXVIII
PART I: THEORETICAL CLARIFICATIONS
CHAPTER ONE: THEOLOGICAL RELEVANCE OF NARRATIVE: FROM NARRATIVE TO MYTH IN THEOLOGY	1
1.1. Biblical Studies	1
1.1.1. Old Testament	2
1.1.2. New Testament	5
1.1.3. Form Critical Studies and Oral Traditions	7
1.2. Dogmatic Theology	9
1.2.1. J.B. METZ: Religious Narratives as Social Criticism	11
1.2.2. E. SCHILLEBEECKX: The Twofold Reception of Religious Narratives	13
1.3. The Myth of God Incarnate all over Again	15

1.3.1. Common Qualifications of Myth	16
1.3.1.1. The Myths of the Gods?	16
1.3.1.2. Myth as "Falsehood"	17
1.3.1.3. Myth as Phenomenon of Past Cultures	18
1.3.2. A Socio-Dynamic Understanding of Myth	19
1.3.3. How Myths Can be Brought to Bear	20
1.3.3.1. Examples of Contemporary Myths	20
1.3.3.2. Criteria for a Theologically Responsible Myth	21
1.3.3.3. Where are Myths Brought to Bear?	23
1.4. Summary	24
CHAPTER TWO: PHILOSOPHICAL CLARIFICATIONS: RELIGIOUS MEANING DISCLOSED IN NARRATIVE LANGUAGE AND COMMON TIME	27
2.1. Language	28
2.1.1. Ian RAMSEY's Disclosure Theory	28
2.1.2. The Method of "Empirical Fit"	30
2.2. From Language to Action: H.G. GADAMER and J. HABERMAS	32
2.2.1. Some Essentials of GADAMER's Theory	32
2.2.2. HABERMAS' Critical Comment	35
2.2.3. GADAMER's Specific Contribution for this Study	38
2.3. Toward a Hermeneutic of Narrative	39
2.3.1. Structure, Word, Event	40
2.3.2. Orality and Experience	42
2.3.3. The Narrative Function	46
2.3.4. Narrative and the Idea of Revelation	50
2.3.4.1. The Expression of Revelation	50

2.3.4.2. The Response to Revelation	53
2.3.5. Hermeneutics of Testimony	54
2.3.5.1. Semantics of Testimony	54
2.3.5.2. The Trial of Testimony	55
2.3.5.3. True and False Testimony	57
2.3.5.4. Paul RICOEUR's Theory Biblically Placed	58
2.3.6. RICOEUR's Understanding of Time and Narrative	61
2.3.6.1. The Experience of Time	62
2.3.6.2. The Theory of Emplotment	63
2.3.6.3. The Threefold Mimesis	64
2.3.6.4. The Analogical Character between Historical and Fictitious Narrative	67
2.3.6.5. Metaphorical Truth	67
2.4. Narrative and Liturgy: Summary and Projections	68
2.4.1. Another Look at the Definition of Narrative	69
2.4.1.1. Narrative	69
2.4.1.2. ... in a religious context	70
2.4.1.3. ... originally a pre-reflective sharing	70
2.4.1.4. ... of an experience of God	71
2.4.1.5. ... God's presence and/or absence	71
2.4.1.6. ... in man's life-world	72
2.4.1.7. ... and his resulting response in the same	72
2.4.2. Narrative in Liturgy	74
2.4.3. Looking Ahead	77

CHAPTER THREE: ON THE PHENOMENON OF SECULARIZATION: THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN SECULAR BIOGRAPHY AND RELIGIOUS TESTIMONY	81
3.1. Introduction	81
3.1.1. A Working Hypothesis	81
3.1.2. What Aims are to be Achieved?	82
3.2. The Issue of Secularization	83
3.2.1. Different Usages of the Term	84
3.2.1.1. The Popular Religious Understanding	85
3.2.1.2. The Theological Use	86
3.2.1.3. The Sociological Use	88
3.2.2. Secularization and the Social Reality of Religion	90
3.2.2.1. An Anthropological Definition of Religion	90
3.2.2.2. The Subjective Appropriation of the World	91
3.2.2.3. The Social Integration of Religion	96
3.2.2.4. Consequences for Theology and Biography	98
3.2.3. Secularization as a Religious Theme	102
3.2.3.1. Interpretation of Secularization	102
3.2.3.1.1. As a religious movement	102
3.2.3.1.2. As a social dialectic	106
3.2.4. Secularization of Hermeneutics	108
3.2.5. The Problem and Challenge of Language on the Inter- section between "Official Currency of Meaning" and "Personal Expression of Ultimate Concern"	111
3.2.5.1. Basic Presuppositions	112
3.2.5.1.1. Translation	112
3.2.5.1.2. Language and authority	114

3.2.5.1.3. Linguistic ambiguity	115
3.2.5.2. Richard FENN's Theory of the Secularization of Religious Language	117
3.2.5.2.1. FENN's basic argument	117
3.2.5.2.2. A critique of FENN's theory	122
3.2.6. Consequences for Religious Narratives in View of Their Secularization	124
3.2.6.1. Primary Considerations	124
3.2.6.2. The Symbolic Level	126
3.2.6.3. Testimony	127
3.2.6.4. Prophecies and Visions	128
3.2.6.5. Myth	129
3.2.6.6. Liturgy	130
3.3. The Structural Function of Autobiography	131
3.3.1. Preliminary Clarifications	131
3.3.2. The Debate on Philippe LEJEUNE's Autobiographical Pact	132
3.3.2.1. LEJEUNE's Theory	132
3.3.2.2. Critique of LEJEUNE's Model	137
3.3.3. Differences and Similarities between Written Autobiography and Oral Testimony	141
3.3.3.1. Similarities	142
3.3.3.2. Differences	143
3.4. The Hermeneutic Theory of E. SCHILLEBEECKX as an Attempt to Correlate Christian and Non-Christian Communication	147
3.5. Some Theological Implications	150
3.5.1. The Personalization of Faith	150
3.5.1.1. In Terms of the Self	151
3.5.1.2. In Terms of Community	154

3.5.2. The Dual Role of Community	154
3.5.3. Worship as the Locus Vivendi of Religious Narrative	156
3.5.4. The Necessity of "Double Talk" and Religious Experience	158

PART II: A HERMENEUTIC OF THERAPEUTIC AND PROPHETIC NARRATIVES

CHAPTER FOUR: TOWARD A PRACTICAL HERMENEUTIC OF TESTIMONY: MORPHOLOGY, METAPHOR, METAMORPHOSIS	161
4.1. Introduction	161
4.2. A Syntactic Analysis of Testimonies of Grace	163
4.2.1. The Contribution of PROPP	164
4.2.2. The Problem of Falsehood and Self-Deception	177
4.2.3. The Problem of Triviality	181
4.2.3.1. Everyday Language / Everyday Experience?	181
4.2.3.2. Recourse to the Will of God?	183
4.2.3.3. The Theodicy Problem	186
4.3. Considerations on the Semantic Level	187
4.3.1. The Fundamental Problem of Meaning in Language	188
4.3.2. The Understanding of Religious Experience	191
4.3.3. The Mythological Dimension: Conversion and the Easter Experience	194
4.4. The Pragmatic Level	196
4.4.1. In the Linguistic Sense	196
4.4.2. As Invitation to Response-Ability	198
4.5. General Conclusion	201

CHAPTER FIVE: ON THE VALUE OF VISIONARY NARRATIVES IN PLURALIST COMMUNITIES: STRUCTURE, RECEPTION AND INTENTIONALITY	203
5.1. Introduction	203
5.1.1. Some General Premises	203
5.1.2. On the Definition of the Term	206
5.1.3. Revelatory Status and Religious Value of Visions	208
5.2. A Closer Look at Various Visions	210
5.2.1. A Case Study of Discordant Visions: Pentecostal Visions in Nazi-Germany. Their Structure, Reception and Intentionality	211
5.2.1.1. Examples	211
5.2.1.2. Introductory Remarks	212
5.2.1.3. In Search of Structure	215
5.2.1.4. The Dynamics of Reception	220
5.2.1.5. In Search of Intentionality	224
5.2.2. The Concordant Visions	227
5.2.3. Diagnostic Visions	228
5.3. Anthropological and Theological Concerns	230
5.3.1. Reservations	231
5.3.2. Prospects	233
5.3.3. Visions as Supplementary Aspects of the Prophetic Ministry of the Church	234
CHAPTER SIX: ACCESSIBLE LITURGY: THEOLOGICAL AND LITURGICAL CONSEQUENCES	235
6.1. Introduction	235
6.2. The Need for a Theology of Laity	236

6.2.1. Yves CONGAR: A Catholic Approach	237
6.2.1.1. The Basic Dilemma	238
6.2.1.2. The Common Priesthood	239
6.2.1.3. Sobornost' as Theory of Reception	240
6.2.2. Hendrik KRAEMER: A Protestant Approach	241
6.2.2.1. Accents of a Theology of Laity	242
6.2.3. Towards a Consensus Fidelium	244
6.3. The Divine Subject of Worship	245
6.3.1. God	246
6.3.1.1. Is it still Meaningful from a Narrative Point of View to Retain a Trinitarian Portrait of God?	247
6.3.1.2. A Narrative Comprehension of God	248
6.3.2. The Narrative of Jesus, the Christ	248
6.3.3. A Pneumatological Blueprint	249
6.3.3.1. The Spirit as Force Vitale	249
6.3.3.2. The Spirit as Divine Agent	250
6.3.3.3. The Spirit as Paraclete	252
6.3.3.4. The Spirit as Deliberator	254
6.3.3.5. The Charismatic Activity of the Spirit	255
6.4. The Human Subject of Worship	259
6.4.1. The Community of Faith	259
6.4.1.1. The One	260
6.4.1.2. The Many	260
6.4.2. The World at Large	261
6.4.2.1. Recognition of a Weltbewusstsein in the Act of Worship	261
6.4.3. A Twofold Consequence	263
6.4.3.1. "Crossing" the Profane in Order to Stand before the Sacred	263

6.4.3.2. Stepping Down from the Sacred in Order to Bring Wholeness to the Profane	264
6.5. A Short Anthropological Excursion	265
6.5.1. Victor TURNER and the "Liminal" Phase in Ritual	266
6.5.2. The Relationship Between Ritual and Social Change	269
6.6. A Liturgical Blueprint	274
6.6.1. Liturgy as a School of Faith	274
6.6.2. The Doxological Function of Religious Narratives in Liturgy	279
6.6.3. Lay Participation Versus Order?	280
6.6.4. The Liturgical and Secular Celebration of a Christian Myth	283
6.7. Concluding Remarks	285
6.7.1. Coming Back to the Suggested Definition of Worship	285
6.7.2. The Contribution of a Narrative Synthesis between the Terrestrial and the Celestial	287
6.7.3. A Contribution to Theory Formation	289
POSTLUDE	293
APPENDICES
Appendix I: A Short Essay on Pentecostalism	299
Appendix II: Testimonies	305
Appendix III: Visions	343
BIBLIOGRAPHY	375