

Contents

Preface	13
Abbreviations	16

PART 1: THE PROBLEM

1. Biblical foundations
1.1 Introduction	19
1.2 Old Testament view of the New Testament	21
a. Development of future expectation	22
b. Prophetic eschatology	23
c. Apocalyptic eschatology	25
d. Expectations and tensions	25
1.3 New Testament view of the Old Testament	26
a. Jesus and the Old Testament	27
b. The substructure of Christian theology	27
c. New Testament interpretation of the Old	28
d. Fulfilment and resolution	29
Bibliography (1)	30
2. The two Testaments in the history of biblical interpretation
2.1 The early church	34
a. The Apostolic Fathers	34

b. Marcion	35
c. Reactions to Marcion	35
d. Theodore and Augustine	35
2.2 Middle Ages	36
2.3 Reformation	37
a. Luther	37
b. Calvin	38
c. The Anabaptists	38
d. Council of Trent	39
2.4 Seventeenth to nineteenth centuries	40
a. Orthodoxy	40
b. Reaction to orthodoxy	40
c. Schleiermacher	41
d. Historical criticism	41
e. Conservative reaction	41
2.5 The developmental approach	42
a. A. F. Kirkpatrick	42
b. R. L. Ottley	43
c. Other writers	44
d. Analysis	46
e. Conservatism	47
2.6 Neo-Marcionism	48
a. The Nazi Bible	49
b. Defence of the Old Testament	50
c. Implicit Marcionism	50
2.7 The problem today	52
a. The nineteen-thirties	52
b. The nineteen-fifties	53
c. The nineteen-seventies	54
Bibliography (2)	57

PART 2: FOUR MODERN SOLUTIONS

3. The New Testament as the essential Bible
3.1 Rudolf Bultmann	67
a. The significance of the Old Testament for the Christian faith	68

b. Prophecy and fulfilment	72
3.2 Critique	76
a. Existence	76
b. History	78
c. Law and gospel	78
d. Miscarriage and promise	80
e. People of God	81
f. A relationship of contrast	83
3.3 Comparison: other 'New Testament' solutions	83
a. Emanuel Hirsch	84
b. Friedrich Baumgärtel	84
c. Franz Hesse	88
d. Antonius H. J. Gunneweg	90
Bibliography (3)	91
4. The Old and New Testaments as equally Christian Scripture
4.1 Wilhelm Vischer	94
a. The witness of the Old Testament to Christ	95
b. Old Testament interpretation	97
c. Everywhere the Scripture is about Christ alone	99
4.2 Critique	100
a. Method	100
b. Jesus as the Old Testament Christ	101
c. Christological Old Testament interpretation	102
d. A timeless revelation	103
e. A relationship of identity	103
4.3 Comparison: other 'scriptural' solutions	104
a. Karl Barth	105
b. Edmond Jacob	106
c. George A. F. Knight	106
d. Brevard S. Childs	107
Bibliography (4)	113
5. The Old Testament as the essential Bible
5.1 Arnold A. van Ruler	117
a. The Old Testament itself	118
b. The Old Testament and Christ	121

c.	The Old Testament and the church	126
5.2	Critique	128
a.	Incongruity between the Testaments	128
b.	The surplus	130
c.	Jesus Christ as God's 'emergency measure'	131
d.	Creation and salvation	131
e.	Kingdom of God	133
f.	A relationship of priority	135
5.3	Comparison: other 'Old Testament' solutions	136
a.	Kornelis H. Miskotte	136
b.	James Barr	140
c.	'Sectarian impatience'	142
	Bibliography (5)	142
6.	The Old and New Testaments as one salvation history
6.1	Gerhard von Rad	145
a.	Actualization	146
b.	The world and humanity	147
c.	The saving event	148
d.	The law	150
6.2	Critique	151
a.	History and historicity	151
b.	History and story	153
c.	Tradition history	155
d.	Salvation history	157
e.	The question of reality	159
f.	A relationship of actualization	160
6.3	Comparison: other 'salvation history' solutions	162
a.	Oscar Cullmann	163
b.	George Ernest Wright	163
c.	Samuel Amsler	164
d.	Wolfhart Pannenberg	168
e.	Jürgen Moltmann	170
f.	Hartmut Gese	171
g.	Elmer A. Martens	172
h.	Hans-Ruedi Weber	172
	Bibliography (6)	173

PART 3: THREE KEY THEMES

7. Typology
7.1 Typology in modern study	179
a. Modern definitions of typology	180
b. Typology in the Old Testament	181
c. Typology in the New Testament	182
d. Typology in the relationship between the Testaments	183
7.2 The basis of typology	185
a. Example and pattern	185
b. Analogy and correspondence	187
c. Illustration	188
7.3 The nature of typology	189
a. False ideas of typology	189
b. Suggested characteristics of types	191
c. Confusion of typology with fanciful interpretation	192
d. A note on the 'fuller meaning'	193
e. Principles and definitions	194
f. Types and paradigms	196
g. A relationship of analogy	197
Bibliography (7)	199
8. Promise and fulfilment
8.1 Prediction, prophecy, promise	203
a. Three British scholars	203
b. Three German scholars	206
c. The Biblischer Kommentar group	208
d. Consensus achieved	210
e. Definitions	212
8.2 The Old Testament promise	214
a. Terminology	215
b. The basic promise	215
c. The promise to David	218
d. The prophetic books	219
8.3 The fulfilment of promise	221
a. Terminology	222

b. Fulfilments within the Old Testament	223
c. Fulfilment in Jesus Christ	224
d. Fulfilment without consummation	227
e. A relationship of interdependence	231
Bibliography (8)	232

9. Continuity and discontinuity

9.1 Continuity and discontinuity	235
a. A continuous history	235
b. The inter-testamental period	236
c. Judaism and Christianity	236
d. Historical discontinuities	238
9.2 Unity in diversity	240
a. Theological unity	240
b. Theological diversity	241
c. A relationship of tension	243
9.3 Israel and the church	246
a. The new Israel	246
b. One people of God	248
c. Palestine, the Jews and Judaism	250
Bibliography (9)	252

PART 4: CONCLUSION

10. The theological relationship between the Testaments

10.1 Summary of the problem	257
a. Biblical and historical survey	257
b. 'New Testament' solutions	258
c. 'Old Testament' solutions	259
d. The need for a 'biblical' solution	260
10.2 Towards a 'biblical' solution	261
a. Christology	261
b. Salvation history	262
c. Typology	263
d. Promise and fulfilment	264
e. Continuity and discontinuity	265
10.3 Implications for theology and church	266

a. The authority of the Old Testament	267
b. Old and New Testament interpretation	268
c. Biblical theology	269
Bibliography (10)	271

General bibliography

A. Serials, reference works, symposia	273
B. Books, articles, dissertations	275

Indexes

A. Authors	283
B. Subjects	290
C. Biblical references	296