

Galen: An Anthology

Edited and translated by

P. N. SINGER

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Translator's Note	ix
Introduction	xi
Further Reading	xxxix
Chronology	xxxiii
Maps	xxxvii
Note on Texts, Editions and Online Resources	xli

I. LIFE, BOOKS AND MEDICAL CAREER

Freedom from Distress	3
My Own Books	16
The Order of My Own Books	41
Prognosis (abridged)	49
Anatomical Procedures (excerpts)	65
An Exhortation to Study the Arts	74

II. SCIENTIFIC THEORY AND METHODOLOGY

My Own Doctrines	93
The Best Doctor is Also a Philosopher	112
The Best Method of Instruction	117
Sects for Beginners	123
The Art of Medicine	140

III. HUMAN BODIES: COMPOSITION, PHYSIOLOGY, EMBRYOLOGY

The Elements according to Hippocrates (excerpts)	185
Mixtures (excerpts)	201
The Function of the Parts of the Human Body (excerpts)	224

The Doctrines of Hippocrates and Plato (excerpts)	239
The Shaping of the Embryo	287

IV. HEALTH, DIET AND LIFESTYLE

The Best Constitution of our Bodies and Good Condition	311
Health (excerpts)	319
The Thinning Diet	327
The Exercise with the Small Ball	345

V. DIAGNOSTIC AND CLINICAL PRACTICE

The Pulse for Beginners	353
Affected Places (excerpts)	370
Simple Drugs (excerpts)	408

VI. SOUL AND BODY

The Soul's Dependence on the Body	431
Affections and Errors of the Soul	457
List of People Mentioned	499
Bibliography	507
Index	511