

Contents

Notes on Contributors	9
Acknowledgements	13
Foreword	15
Janet Wolff
Introduction	19
Teresa Gómez Reus and Aránzazu Usandizaga
 Early Escapes into Public Spaces
Falling Over the Banister: Harriet Martineau and the Uneasy Escape from the Private	35
Lucy Bending
Private Rituals and Public Selves: The Turkish Bath in Women's Travel Writing	47
Efterpi Mitsi
Ladies on the Tramp: The Philanthropic Flâneuse and Appropriations of Victorian London's Impoverished Domesticity	65
Cathleen J. Hamann
 Women on Display
"The Abuse of Visibility": Domestic Publicity in Late Victorian Fiction	87
Anna Despotopoulou
Public Space and Spectacle: Female Bodies and Consumerism in Edith Wharton's The House of Mirth	107
Anne-Marie Evans
Tracing the Female Triptych of Space: Private, Public, and Power Strongholds in Gertrude Atherton's Patience Sparhawk and Her Times and F. Tennyson Jesse's A Pin to See the Peepshow	125
Janet Stobbs

Contents

Approaching the City

- Paving the Way for Mrs Dalloway: The Street-walking Women of Eliza Lynn Linton, Ella Hepworth Dixon and George Paston 149

Valerie Fehlbaum

- Dwelling, Poaching, Dreaming: Housebreaking and Homemaking
in Dorothy Richardson's Pilgrimage 167

Melinda Harvey

- Colonial Flâneurs: the London Life-writing of Janet Frame and Doris Lessing 189

M<sup>a</sup> Lourdes López Roperó

Conquering the Spaces of War

- In a Literary No Man's Land: A Spatial Reading of Edith Wharton's
Fighting France 205

Teresa Gómez Reus and Peter Lauber

- Women and War Zones: May Sinclair's Personal Negotiation with the First World War 229

Laurel Forster

- Expanding the Private and Public Spaces of War: Vera Brittain's
Testament of Youth 249

Aránzazu Usandizaga

Transformations in Nature

- Friends of our Captivity: Nature, Terror and Refugia in Romantic Women's Literature 273

Stephen E. Hunt

- Public Land and Private Fears: Reclaiming Outdoor Spaces
in Gretchen Legler's Sportswoman's Notebook 297

Lilace Mellin Guignard

Negotiating the City

- Adrienne Rich's City Poetry: Locating a Flâneuse 319

Kirsten Bartholomew Ortega

Contents

Writing Inside and Outside: Eavan Boland's Poetry of the Domestic Space Sara Sullivan	335
Concluding Remarks Janet Floyd	351
Index	359