

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Troubling America(s)	1
1 Spaces of the Southwest: Dis-ease, Disease, and Healing in Denise Chávez's The Last of the Menu Girls and Face of an Angel	29
2 Mestizaje in the Midwest: Remapping National Identity in the American Heartland in Ana Castillo's Sapogonia and Sandra Cisneros's Caramelo	61
3 Colonization and Transgression in Puerto Rican Spaces: Judith Ortiz Cofer's The Line of the Sun and The Meaning of Consuelo	94
4 Memoirs of Resistance: Colonialism and Transnationalism in Esmeralda Santiago's When I Was Puerto Rican , Almost a Woman , and The Turkish Lover	127
5 Tales of the Unexpected: Cuban American Narratives of Place and Body in Himilce Novas's Princess Papaya	154
Postscript. The Illegal Aliens of American Letters: Troubling the Immigration Debate	183
Notes	195
Bibliography	221
Index	239