

Contents

List of illustrations	page vi
Notes on contributors	x
Introduction: theorising the projected image Tamara Trodd	1
Part I Histories
1 Rooms of our time: László Moholy-Nagy and the stillbirth of multi-media museums Noam M. Elcott	25
2 'Festival' and 'museum' in modernist film histories Maxa Zoller	53
3 The matter of illusionism: Michael Snow's screen/space Kate Mondloch	73
Part II Screen
4 Projecting symptoms Joanna Lowry	93
5 'You've got me under your spell': the entranced spectator Maria Walsh	111
6 Screen eroticisms: exploring female desire in the work of Carolee Schneemann and Pipilotti Rist Amelia Jones	126
Part III Space
7 Windows in the white cube Andrew V. Uroskie	145
8 Inside the film-machine: architecture and apparatus in British women's film since the 1990s Tamara Trodd	162
9 The projective shift between installation art and new media art: from distantiation to connectivity Christine Ross	184
Index	206