

CONTENTS

Foreword: Outside the Frame Stephen McCauley	xiii
Introduction: An American Outsider James J. Berg and Chris Freeman	xvii
PART I. A SINGLE MAN AND LOS ANGELES CULTURE IN THE 1960s
1 A Single Man and the American Maurice Lois Cucullu	5
2 Labor of Love: Making Chris & Don Tina Mascara and Guido Santi	25
3 Working through Grief in the Drafts of A Single Man Carola M. Kaplan	37
4 Writing the Unspeakable in A Single Man and Mrs. Dalloway Jamie Carr	49
5 A Whole without Transcendence: Isherwood, Woolf, and the Aesthetics of Connection William R. Handley	63
6 Ford Does Isherwood Kyle Stevens	79

7	A Real Diamond: The Multicultural World of A Single Man James J. Berg and Chris Freeman	95
	PART II. THE RELIGIOUS WRITER	103
8	Isherwood and the Psycho-geography of Home Victor Marsh	107
9	Isherwood and Huxley: The Novel as Mystic Fable Robert L. Caserio	121
10	Down Where on a Visit? Isherwood's Mythology of Self Rebecca Gordon Stewart	139
11	A Phone Call by the River Paul M. McNeil	155
12	"Give me devotion . . . even against my will": Christopher Isherwood and India Niladri R. Chatterjee	171
13	Spiritual Searching in Isherwood's Artistic Production Mario Faraone	179
	PART III. A WRITER AT ODDS WITH HIMSELF IN COLD WAR AMERICA	193
14	Christopher Isherwood and Edward Upward Benjamin Kohlmann	199
15	Huxley and Isherwood: The California Years Peter Edgerly Firchow	215
16	The Celebrity Effect: Isherwood, Hollywood, and the Performance of Self Lisa Colletta	227
17	A Writer at Work: The Isherwood Archive Sara S. Hodson	243
18	Pulp Isherwood: Cheap Paperbacks and Queer Cold War Readers Jaime Harker	259

19	Not Satisfied with the Ending: Connecting The World in the Evening to Maurice Joshua Adair	273
	Acknowledgments	291
	Contributors	295
	Index	299