

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgments.....	IX
PART ONE:
YOSEF HAYIM YERUSHALMI AND AMOS FUNKENSTEIN: TRANSCENDENCE, IMMANENCE, AND JEWISH HISTORY IN AN ERA OF SECULARIZATION.....	1
Introduction	3
1. Yosef Hayim Yerushalmi (1932–2009): Transcendence and Break	5
A. "God".....	5
B. Jewish Collective Memory and Modern Jewish Historiography.....	10
C. Wissenschaft des Judentums and the Inevitable Break.....	17
D. The Individual and the Jewish Collective Memory: Passivity and Restraint.....	20
2. Amos Funkenstein (1937–1995): Historical Consciousness and Continuity	34
A. "Remove the reference to God".....	34
B. Collective Memory and "Historical Consciousness".....	36
C. The Historical Continuity Thesis.....	42
D. The Secularization and the Static Nature of Jewish History.....	48
E. Subject, Subjectivism, and Relativism.....	53
F. The Wissenschaft des Judentums and the Historian's Power.....	60
3. History Between Transcendence and Immanence	63
PART TWO:
GERSCHOM SCHOLEM (1897–1982): HISTORY, CONTINUITY, AND SECRET.....	73
1. History and Metaphysics	75
A. Historical Observation.....	81
B. Metaphysical Observation.....	99
2. Methodical Motifs: Contradiction, Dialectic, and Demystification	114
A. Distance, Identification, and Tension.....	114
B. Metaphysical Contradictions and Contents Contradictions.....	115
C. Dialectics and Demystification.....	123
3. The Historical Continuity Thesis	129
A. Intuition, A priori Affirmation, and Substance.....	129
B. The Metaphysical View of Continuity.....	130

C. The Historical View of Continuity.....	138
D. The Historian, the Chronicler, and the Individual's Status in History.....	145
E. Dialectical Conservatism and Daring.....	147
F. Vitality, Paradox, and the Presence of the Nothingness.....	152
4. Jewish Reality in the Present: Anarchy, Secularization, and Utopia.....	162
A. Secularization and Transcendence.....	162
B. Anarchy, "Torah from Heaven," and Historical Continuity.....	166
C. The Temporariness of Secularization and the Religious Horizon of Anarchism.....	168
D. "The Utopian Hope for the Affirmative".....	172
E. "The Dual Way": The Possibility of Mysticism in a Secular Reality.....	181
5. Mysticism, Messianism, and Secret.....	190
6. The Final Stage: The Relations between Immanence and Transcendence.....	203
7. In Praise of Dualism.....	215
 PART THREE:
BARUCH KURZWEIL (1907–1972): BREAK, POETICS, AND CONTINUITY.....	217
 1. Yearning for Transcendence.....	219
2. Methodological Motifs: Biography, Transcending, and Hermeneutics.....	225
3. The Metaphysical Perception of Literature: Realism and Transcendence.....	233
A. The Advantage of Literature over History.....	233
B. Literary Realism and Its Boundaries.....	235
C. Dualism in Transcendence: Overt and Concealed.....	241
D. The Reality in the Hebrew Language.....	244
E. Reality, Absence, and Certainty.....	246
F. "The Non-Literary Attitude to Literature": Fiction, Style, and Aesthetics.....	249
G. Withdrawing the Author from the Work.....	254
4. The Ahistorical Element in Jewish History.....	257
A. Metaphysics and History.....	257
B. Sacred History, Presence, and Depth.....	259
C. "Living Myth," Demythologization, and Remythologization.....	261
D. Archetypes, Uniformity, and "Synoptic Vision".....	264

5. Secularization, History, and Historiography	270
A. "Autonomous Secularism" and Transcendent Presence.....	270
B. Wissenschaft des Judentums , Jewish Studies, and "Biased Subjectivity".....	273
6. Break and Continuity	284
A. "Does it exist or not?".....	284
B. "Three Approaches to Shaping Time".....	286
C. Continuity, Tension, and Polarity.....	302
7. The Subjective Disposition toward the Transcendent Entity: Passivity and Activity	307
A. The Passive Subject.....	307
B. The Active Subject.....	316
8. Literary Realism and Metaphysical Historicism	328
PART FOUR:
NATHAN ROTENSTREICH (1914–1993): PHILOSOPHY, HISTORY, AND REALITY.....	331
1. Philosophy and History	333
2. Past and Present: The Philosophy of History	339
A. Realistic Ontology of the Past.....	339
B. Constituting Epistemology in the Present: Historical Consciousness.....	345
C. Ontology and Epistemology.....	349
3. From Beliefs and Opinions to Reality: The Primacy of the Present	354
4. The Historization of Judaism and Wissenschaft des Judentums	362
5. Tradition and Historical Consciousness	373
A. Judaism as a Religion of Tradition.....	373
B. Tradition and Revelation.....	374
C. The Seriousness Regarding Time.....	375
D. Contemporary Historical Consciousness.....	378
E. "The Subjective Jew".....	380
F. Content and Time.....	382
6. Secularization and Historical Continuity	389
A. The Reality in Secularization.....	389
B. The Present Reality as Transcendence.....	393
C. Real Continuity.....	394
D. Radicalism of Immanence.....	397
E. "The Eclectic Jew".....	399

7. Zionism Between History and Reality	402
A. Zionism: Spirit and Action.....	402
B. The Past of Zionism: Epistemology and Passivity.....	402
C. The Present of Zionism: Ontology and Activism.....	408
D. From Passivity to Activity.....	415
E. "An Archimedes Point that is not Useful".....	419
8. Summary: "Real Contents"	424
EPILOGUE: THE OLD ANGEL.....	425
WORKS CITED.....	430
INDEX.....	454