

Contents

General Editor's Introduction	viii
Introduction	x
1 Practical problems facing language arts teachers	1
2 Computers and reading	9
Screen and page: two distinct media	9
Pre-reading skills	12
Beginning reading	16
Phonics and computer sound	21
Print on video screens	26
Comprehension	35
Higher reading skills	40
Information retrieval	47
The data banks of the future: fact or fiction?	52
A new literacy	59
3 Computers and writing	61
Writing and the other language modes	61
Letter formation	62
Spelling	65
Punctuation	70
Grammar	72
Word processing	84
Computers and written product	93
Computers as writing stimulus	99
4 Computers and oracy	103
Speech recognition	103
Speech synthesis	106
Simple structures of speech: phonemes and words	108
Larger structures of speech: words in combination	111
Computers and oral exchanges	115
Computers and discourse	116
Computers as language users across the curriculum: a postscript	120

References	122
Glossary of terms	124
Select bibliography	128
Index	132