

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Reading the Difficulties Thomas Fink and Judith Halden-Sullivan	1
Thank You for Saying Thank You Charles Bernstein	15
Reading and Reading Elizabeth Robinson	18
Of Course Poetry Is Difficult / Poetry Is Not Difficult Hank Lazer	28
Articulating a Radical and a Secular Jewish Poetics: Walter Benjamin, Charles Bernstein, and the Weak Messiah as Girly Man Stephen Paul Miller	41
Reading the Posthuman Subject in The Alphabet Burt Kimmelman	70
Cooking a Book with Low-Level Durational Energy; or, How to Read Tan Lin's Seven Controlled Vocabularies Kristen Gallagher	93
Engaging with (the Content of) John Bloomberg-Rissman's 2nd NOTICE OF MODIFICATIONS TO TEXT OF PROPOSED REGULATIONS Eileen R. Tabios	105
Bursting at the Seams: Exploding the Confines of Reification with Creative Constraints in Sleeping with the Dictionary Carrie Conners	111
The Game of Self-Forgetting: Reading Innovative Poetry Reading Gadamer Judith Halden-Sullivan	127

The Utopian Textures and Civic Commons of Lisa Robertson's Soft Architecture
Christopher Schmidt 146

Problems of Context and the Will to Parsimony:
Reading "Difficult" Recent U.S. Poetry
Thomas Fink 157

Some Notes on bpNichol, (Captain) Poetry, and Comics
Paolo Javier 178

Crossing the Corpus Callosum: The Musical Phenomenology of Lisa Jarnot
Jessica Lewis Luck 188

Extrapolatia
Sheila E. Murphy 201

Works Cited 203

Contributors 215

Index 219