

CONTENTS

List of Contributors	ix
List of Figures and Tables	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Introduction – Jean-Paul Gaudillière and Ulrike Thoms	1
Part I: Marketing Research and Innovation
1 Beyond Innovation: Pharmaceutical Marketing, Market Structure and the Importance of the ‘Old’ in West Germany, 1950–70 – Nils Kessel	15
2 Innovation, Life Cycles and Cybernetics in Marketing: Theoretical Concepts in the Scientific Marketing of Drugs and their Consequences – Ulrike Thoms	29
3 Marketing Epidemics: When Antibiotic Promotion Stimulates Resistant Bacteria – Quentin Ravelli	43
Part II: Marketing Tools and Visual Practices
4 Ads, Ads, Ads: The GEPHAMA Database and its Uses – Stephan Felder, Jean-Paul Gaudillière and Ulrike Thoms	63
5 Marketing Film: Audio-Visuals for Scientific Marketing and Medical Training in Psychiatry: The Sandoz Example in the 1960s – Christian Bonah	87
6 Images, Visualization and the Practices of Scientific Marketing in Post-War France – Anne-Sophie Mazas	105
7 A Balancing Act: Antidiabetic Products and Diabetes Markets in Germany and France – Tricia Close-Koenig and Ulrike Thoms	129
8 Variation in Drugs and Women: Standardization as a Tool for Scientific Marketing of Oral Contraceptives in France and West Germany (1961–2006) – Lisa Malich	145
Part III: In-House Biomedical Research and Marketing
9 Marketing Loops: Clinical Research, Consumption of Anti-depressants and the Reorganization of Promotion at Geigy in the 1960s and 1970s – Jean-Paul Gaudillière	167

10 Marketing Loops: The Development of Psychopharmacological Screening at Geigy in the 1960s and 1970s – Lucie Gerber	191
Notes	213
Index	263