

CONTENTS.

	Page
Intonation . . . . .	1
Method of indicating intonation . . . . .	2
Connection between Stress and Intonation . . . . .	3
English Intonation analysed . . . . .	4

SECTION A. Unemphatic Sentences.

I. Tune I . . . . .	4
Unstressed syllables . . . . .	5
Rhythm . . . . .	7
Further analysis of Tune I . . . . .	8
Use of Tune I . . . . .	9
Examples I. Tune I . . . . .	11
a) In Statements . . . . .	11
b) In Questions . . . . .	14
c) In Commands . . . . .	16
d) In Exclamations . . . . .	17
Method of treating long groups . . . . .	18
Tune I in long groups . . . . .	19
II. Tune II . . . . .	19
Use of Tune II . . . . .	20
Examples II. Tune II . . . . .	22
a) In sentences in which something is implied . . . . .	22
b) In Questions . . . . .	23
c) In Requests . . . . .	24
III. Sentences containing more than one sense-group . . . . .	25
The Treatment of Parentheses . . . . .	27
Examples III. Sentences containing more than one sense group . . . . .	30
a) Tune I repeated . . . . .	30
b) Tune I repeated more than once . . . . .	32
c) Tune II followed by Tune I . . . . .	33
d) Tune II followed by Tune I (more than two groups) . . . . .	34
e) Tune I followed by Tune II . . . . .	35
IV. Longer sentences and connected texts involving the use of the two unemphatic intonations . . . . .	36

SECTION B. Emphatic Sentences.		page
Emphasis. . . . .		43
I. Tune I. with Intensity . . . . .		44
Examples I. Tune I with Intensity . . . . .		47
II. Variation of Tune I due to special prominence being given to one or more ideas . . . . .		48
a) Last stressed word specially prominent: rest normal		49
Examples IIa . . . . .		49
b) One word specially prominent: rest unstressed . .		51
Examples IIb . . . . .		52
c) Two or more words specially prominent . . . . .		54
Examples IIc . . . . .		54
One sentence (Tune I) with different emphatic intonations . . . . .		55
III. Variation of Tune II due to special prominence being given to one or more ideas. . . . .		56
a) One non-final word emphasised . . . . .		58
Examples IIIa. . . . .		58
b) Two or more non-final words emphasised, the rest normal . . . . .		61
Examples IIIb . . . . .		61
c) Emphatic Questions requiring the answer "yes" or "no" . . . . .		62
Examples IIIc. . . . .		62
d) Last stressed word emphasised (in addition to one or more other words) . . . . .		63
Examples III d . . . . .		65
I. Fall-rise spread over a number of syllables. .		65
II. Fall-rise spread over two syllables. . . . .		66
III. Fall-rise compressed into one syllable ending in a voiced sound . . . . .		67
IV. Fall-rise compressed into one syllable ending in a voiceless sound . . . . .		69
IV. Emphatic Tunes I and II with Additional Emphasis . .		69
Examples IV . . . . .		70
I. Rise-level . . . . .		70
II. Rise-fall. . . . .		71
III. Rise-fall-rise. . . . .		72
V. Sentences containing more than one sense group. . . .		74
VI. Longer sentences and connected texts involving the use of both tunes with and without emphasis . . . . .		75
SECTION C. Orthographic text of examples . . . . .		93