PREFACE	11
1. INTRODUCTION	13
1. Preliminary Remarks	13
1. Aims and Methods
2. Material and Procedures
2. Previous Work and Definition of the Subject	16
1. Definition of the VPC
2. Scope of the Definition
3. Terminology
4. Terminology for Parallel German VPCs
3. Criteria Used in the Study of the VPC	20
1. General Survey, Jespersen
2. Mitchell
3. Live
4. Carstensen
5. Svartvik
6. Fraser
7. Fairclough
8. Bolinger, Erades
4. Aspects of the VPC which are not Discussed	27
1. Taxonomy, Syntax
2. Development
5. The VPC as a Frame for Semantic Investigation	29
2. RECENT WORK IN SEMANTICS	30
1. Approaches to Semantics	30
1. Interpretative vs. Generative

2. Empirical Study
3. Paradigmatic vs. Syntagmatic
2. Semantic Features	33
1. In Structural Semantics
2. In Transformational-Generative Grammar
3. Lexical Entries	37
1. Examples from Chomsky
2. Examples from Weinreich
3. Examples from Katz
4. Examples from Bierwisch
5. Examples from Bendix
6. Examples from Fillmore
7. Examples from Anderson
8. Examples from Baumgärtner
4. The Status of Semantic Features	42
1. Any Modifier vs. Distinctive Features
2. Animate and Inanimate
3. Word Classes of Features and Definitions
4. Selection Restrictions
1. General Remarks
2. Eat and its Selection Restrictions
5. Word-Field, Archilexeme, Classeme
6. Syntactic and Semantic Features
5. Semantic Tests	55
1. General Remarks
2. The VW -Test
3. The Polarity-Test
4. The But -Test and the So -Test
6. Predicate Logic, Verbs, and Semantic Components	61
1. Transitive and Intransitive vs. 1-Place and Many-Place Verbs
2. Verbs and Predicates
3. The Component ‚Cause‘
4. The „Surface Verbs“ Kill and Remind
5. Become, Be and Have

6. Designators vs. Formators, Semantic Formulas
7. The Goals of the Present Analysis
7. Semantic Analysis and Collocations	72
1. The Necessity of Including Collocations
2. Collocation and Colligation
3. Collocation and Selection
8. Semantic Analysis and Idioms	75
1. Idiomaticity and Familiar Collocations
2. Idioms and Constituent Structure
3. General Remarks on Idiomaticity
4. The Present Approach to Idiomaticity
3. THE SEMANTIC STRUCTURE OF VPCs AND WORD-FORMATION	84
1. General Remarks	84
1. Word-Formation and Zero-Derivation
2. Technical Questions of Presentation
3. Stylistic Questions, American English and British English
2. Deadjectival VPCs	88
1. General Remarks, Suffixal and Zero-Derivatives
2. VPCs with out
3. VPCs with up
4. VPCs with clean and clear
1. General Remarks
2. One-Place Verbs, Object Transfer
3. Two-Place Verbs
4. Remove and Empty
3. Denominal VPCs	98
1. General Remarks
2. Denominal Derivatives with out
1. BECOME and CAUSE + BE
2. Instrumental Adverbials: T 1
3. Manner Adverbials
4. The Noun as Object
3. Denominal Derivatives with up

1. BECOME and CAUSE + BE: T 2, T 3
2. HAVE and CAUSE + HAVE: T 4, T 5
3. Instrumental Adverbials: T 6, T 7
4. Manner Adverbials: T 8
5. The Noun as Object, Isolated Cases
4. Deverbal Derivatives	115
1. Preliminary Remarks
1. VPCs which are not Deadjectival or Denominal
2. VPCs and Verb-Adjective Constructions
3. VPCs as a Case of Divided Allegiance
2. Deverbal VPCs with out
1. Remove: T 9
2. Other cases
3. Deverbal VPCs with up : T 10
5. Problems of Productivity	128
1. General Remarks: Transformations, Restrictions, Norm
2. Morphological Restrictions vs. Semantic Restrictions
3. Participial Adjectives	132
1. General Remarks
2. Participial Adjectives with out
3. Participial Adjectives with up
4. Zero-Derived Nouns	138
1. Productivity and Polysemy
2. Different Groups of Nouns
3. Types of Reference: General Remarks
4. Denotation and Types of Reference
5. Tests of Productivity
6. Nouns as Premodifiers?
5. Productivity and other Restrictions	152
1. ‚Empty Verbs‘ and VPCs
2. Collocations with it
6. Tests of Productivity	154
1. Corpus Study
2. Three Types of Corpus Used
3. Other Sources of Material
4. Concluding Remarks on Productivity

6. VPCs and Prefixal Combinations	162
7. Simplex Verbs and VPCs	165
1. General Remarks: Kennedy, Live, Fraser, Meyer
2. Transitivity	168
1. Changes in Transitivity: Poutsma, Jespersen
2. The Feature Cause
3. Object Deletion
4. Object Transfer
5. Prepositional Phrase Reduction
6. Object Transfer, Different Set of Objects, Object Deletion
7. Figurative Usage
3. The Particle as a Locative Adverbial	177
1. Involving —Dynamic
2. Involving +Dynamic, Locative Pronouns, Point of Reference
3. Position
4. Other Functions of the Particle	180
1. Aspect vs. Mode of Action
2. Ingressiveness
3. Completive VPCs
4. Degree
5. Other Adverbial Functions
4. SEMANTIC FEATURES AND WORD-FIELDS	190
1. General Remarks	190
1. Feature Analysis and Word-Formation
2. Overlapping Methods of Analysis
2. Semantic Features	192
1. Preliminary Remarks
1. Formators vs. Designators
2. Features and Tests
3. Effected Object, ± Together
2. VPCs with out	197
1. Involving POSITION
2. Involving BE and BECOME
3. VPCs with up	203

1. Involving POSITION
2. Involving BE and BECOME
3. Involving HAVE
4. Features in the VPCs and the Simplex Verbs
1. Features Contained in the Simplex
2. Features not Contained in the Simplex
5. The Status of the Features
3. Word-Fields	216
1. Word-Fields and Archilexemes
2. VPCs with out
3. VPCs with up
5. SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS	222
1. Summary	222
1. Chapter One
2. Chapter Two
3. Chapter Three
4. Chapter Four
2. Conclusions	225
1. Concerning the VPCs
2. The Dictionary, Competence, Corpus Study
3. Transitivity
4. General Problems of Semantics
1. Interpretative, Generative, and Structural Semantics
2. Lexical Entries and Semantic Features
3. Predicates, Formators, and Designators
4. Collocations and Idiomaticity
3. Specific Results	228
4. General Observations	229
