

Contents

Series Foreword by Robert E. Denton, Jr.	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	xv
Part I Prophets of the New Century	1
Assay: The Autumnal God—The Moral Crisis of Coming to Terms with a Postwar World, 1918–1938	3
1 Let There Be Light: The Genesis of a Social Conscience in the New Century (Jane Addams and Alice Hamilton, M.D.)	9
2 Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi: Goat’s Curds and Flax, and the Wisdom of the Ages	21
3 Clarence Darrow: Gold in the Land of Pyrite	33
Part II Voices of the Second World War	45
Assay: Allies in the Cause of Righteousness	47
4 Man of Munich (Neville Chamberlain)	51
5 Comes the Bully: Demagoguery as Final Solution (Adolf Hitler)	55
6 “In Their Righteous Might!”	69
Winston Churchill: The Right Honorable Demosthenes	69
Franklin Delano Roosevelt: Chats from the Fireside, Words from the Heart	82
Part III Postwar Panic	97
Assay: Fear and Public Policy, and Voices of Rejoinder	99

7	The Goat-Song of Joseph Raymond McCarthy: The One-Word Harangue as Chorus	103
8	Joseph N. Welch: Indignation in Triumph	111
9	Postwar Panic—A Postscript: Resolution and Retribution—The Rhetoric of Righteous Indignation	119
	Part IV The Modern Epoch	125
	Assay: Greatness Right There in the Living Room	127
10	Polity, Poetry, and Caveat	131
	Adlai Ewing Stevenson: Eloquence Offers Its Neck	131
	Dwight David Eisenhower: Lessons of D-Day, Warnings of Armageddon	139
	John Fitzgerald Kennedy: "Let the Word Go Forth!"—A Promise Plowed Under	147
11	King and Heir	153
	Martin Luther King, Jr.—"This Pending Cosmic Elegy": Remembering a Cause's Superb Wordsmith	153
	The Reverend Jesse Jackson—The Pulpit and the Party Platform: A Voice of Caring in the Age of Anecdote	161
12	Afterthoughts on Leadership and Language: How Does History Handle the Rhetorician?	169
	Selected Bibliography	177
	Index	189