

Contents

Preface	vii
PART I Cultural-Historical Antecedents for the Development of Anthropology	1
1. Prelude to Anthropology	3
PART II Developmentalism; Social Science and Anthropology	41
2. Developmentalism: Foundations for a Study of Man	45
3. Progressivist Epilogue: 1800–1840	91
4. Differentiation of Anthropology as the Science of Preindustrial Man	114
5. Problems and Issues of Developmentalist Social Science and Anthropology	165
6. Religion, Morality, and Society	206
7. Social Origins and Continuities	250
8. Technological Origins and Continuities and Assessment of Developmentalism	288
PART III Structuralism (ca. 1890–1940)	311
9. Diffusion and Culture History	317
10. Establishing the Autonomy of Culture	360
11. The Integration of Culture	400
12. The Psychoanalysis of Culture	433
13. Social Structuralism and Biocultural Functionalism	480
PART IV Differentiative Specialization (1940 to Present)	539
14. Differentiation and Specialization	541
15. Differentiation of Social Anthropology and Theoretical Divergences	591
16. Differentiation of Economic Anthropology	630
17. Differentiation of Cultural Ecology	676
18. Differentiation of Ethnojurisprudence and Ethnopolitics	697
19. Social and Cultural Change: Acculturation and Applied Anthropology	721
20. Cultural Anthropology: Retrospect and Prospects	786
References	806
Glossary	861
Index	867