

Contents

Burma: Kayah Society as a Function of the Shan-Burma-Karen Context	1
BY F. K. LEHMAN
Part I. The Geography and Demography of the Kayah States	7
Part II. The Kayah Social and Political System: A Matter of Intersocietal Relations	14
Part III. The Social and Cultural System	26
Part IV. Kayah Kinship, Marriage, and Inheritance in the Context of Sawbwaship	42
Part V. Concluding Remarks: Social Structure and Subnuclear Social Systems	52
Appendixes	65
A Kelantanese Village of Malaya	105
BY RICHARD DOWNS
Part I. Introduction	107
Part II. The Village of Jeram	126
Part III. Political Structure	131
Part IV. Kinship, Marriage, and Divorce	136
Part V. Social Status and Groupings	149
Part VI. Land Tenure and Inheritance	152
Part VII. Organization of Labor and Methods of Production	155
Part VIII. Relationships Outside the Village	176
Part IX. Conclusion	180

Kaminosho: A Farm Village Suburban to Osaka in South Central Japan	187
BY TOSHINAO YONEYAMA
Part I. The Community and Its Setting	189
Part II. Historical Background	204
Part III. Economy and Production	218
Part IV. Social and Religious Patterns	241
Kurikoma: A Farm Village in the Mountains of the Tohoku District of North Central Japan	259
BY TOSHINAO YONEYAMA
Part I. General Characteristics	264
Part II. Historical Background	268
Part III. Kinship Structure	274
Part IV. Regional Contexts	292
Part V. The Economy	302
Comparisons of Modernization in Two Japanese Villages	327
BY TOSHINAO YONEYAMA
National and Rural Types	329
Index	345