

Contents

Foreword	NINA AUERBACH	ix
Introduction	LAURA L. DOAN	1
PART ONE Defining the Spinster Code		17
JUDY LITTLE
"Endless Different Ways": Muriel Spark's Re-Visions of the Spinster		19
PART TWO Old Maids		37
MARLON B. ROSS
Contented Spinsters: Governessing and the Limits of Discursive Desire in the Fiction of I. Compton-Burnett		39
SUSAN KATZ
Writing for "Monie": The Legacy of the Spinster to E. M. Forster		66 ✓
SYBIL OLDFIELD
From Rachel's Aunts to Miss La Trobe: Spinsters in the Fiction of Virginia Woolf		85 ✓
PART THREE Excellent Women		105
DALE M. BAUER
The Politics of Collaboration in The Whole Family		107
CATHERINE KENNEY
Detecting a Novel Use for Spinsters in Sayers's Fiction		123 ✓
LAURA L. DOAN
Pym's Singular Interest: The Self as Spinster		139

VALERIE MINER Spinning Friends: May Sarton's Literary Spinsters	155
GAYLE GREENE An "Old Story": Gail Godwin's The Odd Woman	169
PART FOUR Radical Spinsters	193
BARBARA BROTHERS Flying the Nets at Forty: Lolly Willowes as Female Bildungsroman	195
ANDREW M. LAKRITZ Jane Bowles's Other World	213
JOAN KIRKBY The Spinster and the Missing Mother in the Fiction of Elizabeth Jolley	235
SUSAN JARET MCKINSTRY A Ghost of An/Other Chance: The Spinster-Mother in Toni Morrison's Beloved	259
Notes on Contributors	275
Index	279