

Contents

PART ONE. PRELIMINARIES

1. A Problem and a Wedge 3
Self-image and spoiled identities. The meeting of cultures.
Traditional approaches.
2. Methods and Theories 12
The fieldwork. Problems of acceptance. Methods. The impressionistic approach. Theories. Symbolic interaction. The social drama. Profanation of the self.
3. The Present 38
The town of Short Grass. The reserve community. Indians and the government.
4. Wild Red Indians 67
The Cree in Canadian history. Whiskey traders and Mounties.
Early days at Short Grass.

PART TWO. THE PRESERVATION OF SELF

5. Self-Sacrifice 87
Situational interaction. Shiftless Indians. Days in town. Mendicant Indians. Trespassing Indians. Putting Indians in their place.
6. Covering 121
The concealment of profane images. Indian names. Indian lore.
Noble savage, ignoble Indian. Drunken Indians.

7. Indian Givers 142
Plains philanthropists. What's mine is yours (and vice versa).
Avoidance of sharing. Stingy people. Different attitudes toward sharing.
8. Small Gains 157
Conning the con man. Wits' end. Panhandling. Incurable
Indians. White roles for the Indian. Containment.
9. Interpretations 176
A dual moral universe. Pluralistic ignorance. A complementarity of moral affronts. Society and the assignment of moral worth.
Problems for the future.
- Bibliography 193 Index 201

Eight pages of photographs follow p. 110