

Contents

	Preface and Acknowledgments	ix
I	Imitation's Limitations; or, Why Writers Write About Writers Writing	1
II	The Repertoire of Reflexivity	19
III	The Self-Conscious Tradition	32
IV	Getting Back at James Joyce	48
	'Aeolus': Democratic Ethics
	'The Oxen of the Sun': Elitist Esthetics
	Why Leopold Bloom Masturbates
V	Nabokov's Imitations of Mortality	73
VI	Plagiarizing The Recognitions	114
	What Happens in The Recognitions
	Wyatt as a Hero
	The Recognitions Self-Implied
VII	Paradoxical Pynchon; or, The Real World Inside Gravity's Rainbow	141
VIII	A Trestle of LETTERS	157
IX	The Criticism of Self-Consciousness	168
X	Reflexive Commentary in the Form of a Conclusion	183
	Varieties of Self-Depiction
	Honest Dishonesty: Fiction's Claim to Truth
	Beyond Self-Consciousness?
	Bibliography	195
	Index	217