

Contents

Illustrations, xiii

1. Rethinking Women's Literary History, 3
2. Emily Dickinson and the Wicked Sisters, 17
 - The Magic Circle*, 19
 - "Satan, or Sue", 27
 - Sisterhood and Difference*, 42
 - Placing Dickinson in History*, 44
3. Dickinson, Women Writers, and the Marketplace, 55
 - Literary Sisterhood: The Brontë Sisters*, 63
 - "Tomes of Solid Witchcraft": Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 68
 - Superior Women: George Eliot*, 79
 - Going to Market: Helen Hunt Jackson*, 86
4. Differences That Kill:
 - Elizabeth Bishop and Marianne Moore, 99
 - Gender and Modernism*, 101
 - The Dynamics of Influence*, 107
 - "Can't They See How Different It Is?", 119
 - Witchcraft*, 131
 - "Driving to the Interior", 137
 - "You Are an Elizabeth", 146
5. Adrienne Rich, Emily Dickinson, and the Limits of Sisterhood, 152
 - Breaking the Mold*, 155

- Feminism and Poetry*, 162
Lesbian Feminist Politics and Poetics, 170
Dickinson as Other, 176
“What Chou Mean WE, White Girl?”, 181
6. Race, Black Women Writing, and Gwendolyn Brooks, 185
Making Herself a Tradition, 186
Black Blueswomen, 192
Poetry and Black Motherhood, 195
Words as Weapons, 206
Black Power, 210
“There Will Be Differences”, 221
“Who Said It Was Simple”, 229
- Notes, 235
- Bibliography, 245
- Index, 261