

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword by Nigel Palmer .....	VII
Abbreviations .....	XI
Preface.....	XV
1 Medieval Sermons and the Study of Literature.....	1
2 The Three Enemies of Man .....	17
3 The Pilgrimage of Life as a Late Medieval Genre .....	39
4 The Wisdom of the Fool .....	61
5 The Joyous Art of Preaching; or, The Preacher and the Fabliau	81
6 Petrarch's Accidia .....	99
7 Dante's Rationale for the Seven Deadly Sins ( Purgatorio 17)..	113
8 The Classics in Late-Medieval Preaching .....	121
9 Chaucer and the Language of Contemporary Preaching .....	139
10 Chaucer's Parson's Tale : "Every Tales Strengthe" .....	161
11 Chaucer's Troilus of Book 4.....	177
12 Moral Chaucer? .....	189
13 The Moor Maiden – a Contemporary View .....	205
14 Poets, Preachers, and the Plight of Literary Critics.....	213
15 Two Notes on Chaucer and Grosseteste .....	243
16 Notes on the Parsons Tale .....	249
17 Chaucer's Pardoner and His Relics .....	271
18 Another Analogue to The Pardoner's Tale .....	277
19 Why the Monk? .....	281

20	Langland's Troianus .....	291
21	Eli and His Sons.....	295
22	A Latin Miracle with Middle English Verses.....	309
23	The "Gay" Carol and Exemplum.....	317
24	Mum and the Sothsegger , lines 421-422 .....	325
25	St. Erkenwald and the Uncorrupted Body .....	329
26	A New Occurrence of an English Poem from the Red Book of Ossory .....	331
27	An Early Reference to a Corpus Christi Play.....	339
28	Somer Game and Sermon References to a Corpus Christi Play..	345
	Original publication data .....	359
	Index.....	361