

CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1. CLINICAL DESCRIPTION	1
Definition, 1; Prevalance/Incidence, 7; Primary Problems, 12; Related Problems, 19; Early Predictors of Hyperactivity, 32; Developmental Course, 33; Predicting Outcome, 36; Etiology, 37; A Behavioral Analysis of Hyperactivity, 45; Summary and Conclusions, 48; Implications for Assessment, 48; Suggested Reading, 50
CHAPTER 2. THE FAMILIES OF HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN	52
Family Psychiatric Problems, 53; A Behavioral Approach to Deviant Family Interactions, 55; Other Factors Influencing Parent–Child Interactions, 70; Summary, 76; Implications for Assessment, 77; Implications for Treatment, 78; Suggested Reading, 79
CHAPTER 3. THE EVALUATION OF HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN: CLINICAL INTERVIEW AND RATING SCALES	81
Approaches to Deviant Social Behavior, 82; Diagnostic Criteria, 85; Who Should Conduct the Evaluation?, 86; Preparation for the Evaluation, 87; Parental Interview, 88; Child Interview, 102; Teacher Interview, 103; Behavior Rating Scales, 104; Conclusion, 144; Suggested Reading, 144
CHAPTER 4. THE EVALUATION OF HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN: OBSERVATIONAL METHODS AND PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTS	146
General Considerations, 147; Clinic Playroom (Analogue) Settings, 151; In-Home Observations, 156; Classroom Observations, 157; Objective Behavioral Recording Methods, 158; Psychometric Testing, 167; Medical Examination, 182; Cost-Effectiveness of Assessment, 183; Conducting the Parent Feedback Conference, 183; Conclusion, 186; Suggested Reading, 186
CHAPTER 5. DRUG MANAGEMENT OF HYPERACTIVITY	189
History of Stimulant Drug Use with Children, 190; Pharmacological Aspects of Stimulant Drugs, 191; Drug Response Rates, 192; Clinical Effects: Short-Term, 193; Clinical Effects: Long-Term, 202; The Paradox of Stimulant Drug

Therapy, 202; Predicting the Clinical Response to Stimulants, 204; Dose Effects of Medication, 205; Side Effects, 207; Clinical Implications of Current Research, 212; Factors Influencing Stimulant Drug Use, 213; The Clinical Use of Stimulant Drugs, 214; Combined Treatment Programs, 222; Alternative Medications, 223; The Role of Nonmedical Professionals in Drug Treatment, 224; Discussing Drug Use with Parents, 226; Ethical and Social Issues in Drug Treatment with Children, 227; Conclusion, 228; Suggested Reading, 229

CHAPTER 6. PRINCIPLES OF BEHAVIOR THERAPY 231

The Clinician's Attitude toward Treatment, 231; A Review of Behavioral Principles, 234; General Approach to Behavioral Intervention, 237; Specific Behavior Modification Methods, 241; Ethical Considerations, 267; Summary, 269; Suggested Reading, 270

CHAPTER 7. TRAINING PARENTS TO COPE WITH HYPERACTIVE CHILDREN 271

Practical Considerations, 273; Stylistic Considerations, 275; General Concepts in Child Management, 279; Overview of the Course of Training, 282; Session I: A Review of Hyperactivity, 284; Session II: A Review of Parent-Child Interactions, 289; Session III: Developing Parental Attending Skills, 306; Session IV: Paying Attention to Compliance and Independent Play, 316; Session V: Using Time Out and Response Cost for Noncompliance, 325; Session VI: Extending Time Out to Other Noncompliant Behaviors, 340; Session VII: Managing Noncompliance in Public Places, 341; Session VIII: Managing Future Misbehavior, 348; Outcomes of Parent Training, 350; Amending the Core Parent Training Program, 356; Treating Hyperactive Adolescents and Their Families, 360; Placement of the Hyperactive Child Outside the Home for Treatment, 362; Summary, 363; Suggested Reading, 364

CHAPTER 8. BEHAVIOR THERAPY IN THE CLASSROOM 365

Issues in Utilizing Behavior Modification in the Classroom, 367; General Approach to Behavior Therapy in the Classroom, 369; Individual Programs, 370; Group Programs, 379; Self-Control Procedures, 381; Home-Based Reinforcement Methods, 388; Standard Programs for Changing Classroom Behavior, 391; Reducing Classroom Distractions and Stimulation, 394; Issues in Maintaining Parent-School-Therapist Relations, 395; Summary, 398; Suggested Reading, 398

CHAPTER 9. OTHER TREATMENT APPROACHES 400

Dietary and Nutritional Treatments, 400; Vitamin Deficiencies and Food Allergies, 411; Sugar, 412; Other Allergies, 414; Fluorescent Lighting, 414; Progressive Relaxation and Biofeedback Training, 415; Conclusion, 416; Suggested Reading, 416

APPENDIX A. THE RESPONSE CLASS MATRIX: A PROCEDURE FOR RECORDING PARENT-CHILD INTERACTIONS 419

Eric J. Mash, Leif Terdal, and Kathryn Anderson

APPENDIX B. THE FAMILY TRAINING PROGRAM MANUAL: THE HOME CHIP SYSTEM	437
---	------------

Edward R. Christophersen, Susan Rainey Barnard, and James D. Barnard

Index	449
--------------	------------