

Contents

Part I. Constructing Divisions	I
1. Introduction: On William Blake, Nature, and Mortality	3
2. On Nature and Providence: Readings in Herodotus, Protagoras, and Democritus	24
Part II. Perceiving Continuities	41
3. On the Transmigration of Souls: Reincarnation into Animal Bodies in Pythagoras, Empedocles, and Plato	43
4. On Language, Concepts, and Automata: Rational and Irrational Animals in Aristotle and Descartes	63
5. On the Disadvantages of Being a Complex Organism: Aristotle and the scala naturae	98
Part III. Being Realistic	133
6. On the Vice of Sentimentality: Androcles and the Lion and Some Extraordinary Adventures in the Desert Fathers	135
7. On the Notion of Natural Rights: Defending the Voiceless and Oppressed in the Tragedies of Sophocles	162
8. On Self-Defence and Utilitarian Calculations: Democritus of Abdera and Hermarchus of Mytilene	197
9. On Eating Animals: Porphyry's Dietary Rules for Philosophers	224
Conclusion	239
Bibliography	243
Index Locorum	249
General Index	253