

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
I. Interpreting the Genre: The Elegy and the Work of Mourning	1
II. Spenser: The Shepheardes Calender and "Astrophel"	38
III. Where Words Prevail Not: Grief, Revenge, and Language in Kyd and Shakespeare	64
IV. Milton: "Lycidas"	90
V. Jonson, Dryden, and Gray	118
VI. Shelley: "Adonais"	138
VII. Tennyson: In Memoriam	166
VIII. Swinburne: "Ave Atque Vale"	204
IX. Hardy: "A Singer Asleep" and Poems of 1912–13	227
X. Yeats: "In Memory of Major Robert Gregory"	260
Epilogue: The English Elegy after Yeats; a Note on the American Elegy	299
Notes	329
Index	367