

Contents

INTRODUCTION	9
Part I: IRISH NATIONALISM AND REALISTIC DRAMA	13
A. The Irish Nationalist Movements and Literature	13
1. Political Movements	14
2. The Land Question	17
3. The Literary Movement	20
B. Peasant Realism	24
1. Abbey Realism	24
2. The Ulster Literary Theatre	30
3. From Realistic to Popular Drama	33
Part II: THE PEASANT AND HIS LAND ON THE STAGE	43
A. Violence	43
1. Rutherford Mayne, The Troth and Red Turf	44
a. The Ulsterman and the Dramatic Revival	44
b. The Plots and Structures of The Troth and Red Turf	47
c. The Characters	51
d. The Cottage Interior	55
2. John B. Keane, The Field	55
a. Keane and Modern Irish Drama	56
b. Plot and Structure of The Field	60
c. The Characters	64
d. The Public Bar	68
e. The Field	69
Final Remarks	72
B. Emigration	76
1. Padraic Colum, The Land	77
a. Colum and the Beginning of Peasant Realism	77
b. Plot and Structure of The Land	82
c. The Characters	86
d. Two Cottage Kitchens	91
2. Michael J. Molloy, The Wood of the Whispering	93
a. Molloy, Farmer and Playwright	93
b. Plot and Structure of The Wood of the Whispering	96
c. Fairy-Tale and Reality	100
d. The Characters	102
e. The Camp in the Wood	109
Final Remarks	111

C.	Homecoming	114
	1. Lennox S. Robinson, Harvest	115
	a. Robinson and the Consolidation of Realism	115
	b. Plot and Structure of Harvest	119
	c. The Characters	121
	d. The Slated Farm-House	126
	2. John Murphy, The Country Boy	132
	a. Murphy's Short Career as a Playwright	132
	b. Plot and Structure of The Country Boy	133
	c. The Characters	138
	d. The Modern Farm-House	142
	Final Remarks	145
	CONCLUSION	149
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	154