

Contents

General Editor's Preface	xiii
A Note on Editions	xiv

PART I: ANALYSING BLEAK HOUSE AND HARD TIMES

Introduction	3
1 Facts and Fog: Opening Salvos	5
Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 7-9	5
Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 11-13	16
Concluding discussion	23
Dickens throws down a gauntlet	25
Dickens imposes his personality	26
Methods of analysis	27
Suggested work	28
2 Characterisation (1): From Grotesques to Intimates	30
Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 45-6	30
Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 131-2	34
Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 106-7	39
Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 131-2	41
Discussion of grotesques	44
Managing the crowd	47
More rounded characters	51
Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 94-6	52
Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 255-6	58
Further examples from more rounded characters	62
Stephen Blackpool	62
The Dedlocks	64
Concluding discussion	68
Methods of analysis	73
Suggested work	74

3	Characterisation (2): Women	75
	Angelic women: Rachael, Ada, Sissy	75
	Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 81-2	75
	Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 858-9	79
	Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 214-5	82
	The female populations of Hard Times and Bleak House	85
	Concluding discussion	89
	Methods of analysis	91
	Suggested work	92
4	Morality and Society	94
	Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 105-6	95
	Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 589-90	105
	Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 235-6	109
	Concluding discussion	111
	Facts and Utilitarianism as a theme of Hard Times	112
	Utilitarianism and other elements of Hard Times	116
	The Court of Chancery as a theme of Bleak House	118
	The Court of Chancery and other elements of Bleak House	120
	A moral response to society's ills	122
	Methods of analysis	125
	Suggested work	126
5	Rhetoric, Imagery and Symbol	128
	Patterns of language	128
	Analysis: Hard Times , p. 64	128
	Analysis: Bleak House , p. 815	132
	Irony and sarcasm	135
	Analysis: Bleak House , pp. 220-21	135
	Analysis: Hard Times , p. 219	137
	Analysis: Hard Times , p. 57	138
	Imagery	140
	Analysis: Bleak House , p. 678	140
	Symbolism	143
	Analysis: Hard Times , pp. 245-6	145
	Analysis: Bleak House , p. 540	147
	Concluding discussion	152

Methods of analysis	153
Suggested work	155
6 Summative Discussion and Conclusions to
Part One	156
Dickens's techniques	156
The opening salvos	157
Questions	158
PART II: THE CONTEXT AND THE CRITICS
7 Charles Dickens's Life and Works	165
Dickens's childhood	165
Dickens finding his way	167
Middle years	169
The separation from Catherine	175
The final decade	177
The influence of his life and the times on
Dickens's works	182
The social and historical background: Britain	184
Social reform	185
Foreign affairs	189
8 The Place of Hard Times and Bleak House in
English Literature	193
Bleak House and Hard Times among
Dickens's novels	193
Novels before Dickens	196
Bleak House and Hard Times among their contemporaries	197
Some features of the novel after Dickens	202
9 A Sample of Critical Views	208
The scope of this chapter	208
Dickens's contemporaries	208
Between then and now:
Shaw, Chesterton, Huxley, Woolf, Orwell,
Leavis and Larkin	213

Recent critics	222
Juliet John	222
Valerie Purton	225
Pam Morris	228
Stephen J. Spector	232
Further varieties:	235
Barbara Hardy, Hilary M. Schor, Alexander Welsh	236
Further Reading	240
Index	246