

CONTENTS

	Page
PREFACE	x
INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER
1. THE AFRICAN NOVEL AND ITS CRITICS (1950-1975)	7
Eurocentric Charges Against the African Novel	7
Preliminary Issues: Africa's Literature and Ora- ture	10
What is African Literature?
Tutuola and the Distinction Between the African Novel and the European Novel
Africa's Oral Antecedents to the Novel
The Alleged Deficiencies of African Orature and its Alleged Negative Influence on the African Novel
An Afrocentric Defense of the African Novel	87
The Premises and Prejudices of Eurocentric Criticism
The So-Called Problem of Space and Time
Plot, Structure, and Dialogue
Characterization and Description
Didacticism and Moral Attitude
Summation
2. TRANSITION: AN ASYMMETRY IN THE CRITICISM OF AFRICAN POETRY AND OF THE AFRICAN NOVEL	147

3. AFRICAN POETRY AND ITS CRITICS (1950-1975)	163
Major Tendencies in African Poetry	163
Euromodernism: The Case of the Ibadan-Nsukka School of Nigerian Poetry	165
Language and Surface Meaning
Imported Imagery and Attitudes
Unsuccessful Mimesis: The Hopkins Disease
Euromodernist Nigerian Poetry and the Oral Tradition
The Ibadan-Nsukka Poets: An Assessment
The Inculcation of Euromodernism in Nigerian Poetry: The Scandalous Leeds-Ibadan Connection	196
The Fostering of Euromodernism in Nigerian Poetry	208
The Cultivation of Obscurantism
The Anti-African Outlook and How it is Promoted
4. ISSUES AND TASKS IN THE DECOLONI- ZATION OF AFRICAN LITERATURE	239
Basic Assumptions	239
Parameters of Traditionalist Experimentation	241
Community, Craft and Language
Commitment and the Writer's Social Re- sponsibilities
Cultural Continuity: The African Writer and the African Past
The Decolonization of African Literary Forms, Themes and Techniques	259
Deficiencies in Poetry and Prose
Narrative Rhetoric and Its Devices
Poetic Eloquence and Its Devices
The Role of African Critics in the Decoloniza- tion of African Literature	285

Contents

The Role of African Disseminators and Consumers in the Decolonization of African Literature	291
The Role of the African Educational System in the Decolonization of African Literature	295
The Department of African Languages, Oratures and Literatures
The Department of Comparative Literatures
The Department of Colonial Languages
5. CONCLUSION	301
APPENDIX	305
REFERENCE LIST	309
INDEX	317