
Contents

Preface	ix
1. The Morbid Fascination with Politics in South African Prose	1
2. Beware the Gaboon Adder: Wilbur Smith's Purple Prose and Propaganda	17
3. The Mystery of McClure's Trekkersburg Mysteries: Text and Nonreception in South Africa	41
4. More Mysteries against Apartheid: Bosman, Ebersohn, and Drummond	57
5. Progressively Antipolitical: Recent Antiapartheid Best-Sellers	75
6. The Liberal Tradition in South African Writing: Alan Paton and Laurens van der Post	93
7. Undermining the Liberal Tradition: Dan Jacobson, Phyllis Altman, and Mary Benson	109
8. Condemned to Choose, But What? Existentialism in South African Writing in English	121
9. Nadine Gordimer's Morbid Fascination with Politics	139
10. The Play of Politics in South African Theater	155

11. Conclusion	169
Selected Bibliography	175
Index	189