

Contents

Introduction	ix
I PROBLEMS OF NARRATION
1 Contexts of Babu Fictions	3
2 Maps of Babu Fiction	37
3 The Rhetoric of Exile	67
4 A Cosmopolitan Identity: The Birthmarks of Hybridity	78
5 Language: Problems of Dialogue and Mapping	98
II TENSIONS IN THE NARRATIVE
6 Caste: The Hiranyagarbha Syndrome	133
7 The Urban Landscape: Neighbourhoods, a Class Apart	159
8 Gender and Class: A Well-placed Displacement	176
III WAYS OF NARRATING
9 The Indian and the Universal in Raja Rao: Making the World	203
10 R.K. Narayan: A View from the Window	226
11 V.S. Naipaul: Narrating from the Empty Centre	243
12 Rushdie's Recipe for Newness	265
13 The Example of Amitav Ghosh: (Re)Establishing Connections	302
Afterword: Conflictual Spaces	333
Appendices
1 Imperialism and Colonization	350
2 Aliens from Marx	358
3 Caste and Class	365
Bibliography	376
Index	395