

Table of Contents

	Page
Chapter One
THE ROLE OF AFRICAN WOMEN IN LIFE AND LITERATURE .....	1
Introduction .....	1
Male Writers and the African Woman .....	6
Female Writers and the African Woman .....	9
Notes .....	15
Chapter Two
ONITSHA MARKET LITERATURE: THE CHAPBOOK HEROINES .....	18
Duality of the Pamphlet Heroines .....	20
The Fallen Woman .....	24
The Belle Heroines .....	28
Conclusion .....	36
Notes .....	38
Chapter Three
CYPRIAN EKWENSI: A SOCIALLY CONDITIONED PERCEPTION .....	41
Introduction .....	41
Ekwensi's City Heroines .....	43
Jagua Nana .....	52
Filia Enu and Jagua Nana Compared .....	63
Heroines struggle to survive the peace .....	67
Dilemma of Ngozi, the Heroine .....	72
Conclusion .....	74
Notes .....	76
Chapter Four
THE ELEVATED HEROINE .....	79
Heroines in Ousmane Sembene's Novels .....	81
Heroines in the Fight For Independence .....	91
Heroines in Ngugi wa Thiong'O's Novels .....	96
Elevated Heroines and Leadership .....	104
Conclusion .....	112
Notes .....	114

Chapter Five

FLORA NWAPA: THE WOMAN'S VULNERABILITY AND HER SEARCH FOR OPTIONS . . . . .	118
Introduction . . . . .	118
Comparative Analyses of the Heroines
Efuru and Idu . . . . .	121
The Use of Dialogue and Talk . . . . .	131
The Heroine and the Nigerian Civil War . . . . .	138
The Dream of Motherhood . . . . .	146
Elevated Heroines and the tensions and conflicts of Urban Living . . . . .	154
Conclusion . . . . .	159
Notes . . . . .	161

Chapter Six

BUCHI EMECHETA: THE YOKE OF WOMANHOOD . . . . .	164
Introduction . . . . .	164
Self-Assertion and Personal Development in Buchi Emecheta's Early Autobiographical stories . . . . .	167
Elevated Heroines and the Status Quo . . . . .	169
The Slave Concept in Buchi Emecheta's Novels . . . . .	177
Heroines' Dilemma through Matrimonial Discord . . . . .	185
The Achievement of Status through Motherhood . . . . .	191
The Elevated Heroine and National Peace . . . . .	195
Unresolved Paradox in the Heroine . . . . .	203
Achievement of the Heroine . . . . .	205
The Educated Heroine . . . . .	206
Conclusion . . . . .	212
Notes . . . . .	214

Chapter Seven

GRACE OGOT: THE EAST AFRICAN PERSPECTIVE . . . . .	217
Introduction . . . . .	217
Matron Jack and the Nurses . . . . .	221
Love and Concern for Others . . . . .	234
Tensions of Urban Living . . . . .	243
Consequences of Greed and Inordinate Ambition . . . . .	248

Elevated Political Heroines . . . . .	258
Conclusion . . . . .	264
Notes . . . . .	265

Chapter Eight

BESSIE HEAD: THE ALIENATED HEROINE . . . . .	268
Introduction . . . . .	268
Bessie Head's Philosophy of Life . . . . .	275
Self-Actualization and Human Liberation . . . . .	283
Unity between Man, the Soil and Social Harmony . . . . .	291
Conclusion . . . . .	301
Notes . . . . .	303

Chapter Nine

CONCLUSION . . . . .	306
Reversal of the Roles of Woman . . . . .	310
Notes . . . . .	317
Bibliography . . . . .	318
Index . . . . .	332