

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface to the Third Printing	iii
Introductory Note	v
Preface	vii
PART
I. PROBLEMS AND METHODS OF ANALYSIS	1
I. The Study of Language in Its Social Context	3
II. First Approach to the Structure of New York City English	19
III. The Social Stratification of (r) in New York City Department Stores	42
IV. The Isolation of Contextual Styles	60
V. The Linguistic Interview	89
VI. The Survey of the Lower East Side	100
II. SOCIAL DIFFERENTIATION	133
VII. Class Differentiation of the Variables	135
VIII. Further Analysis of the Variables	180
IX. Distribution of the Variables in Apparent Time	218
X. Other Linguistic Variables	261
III. SOCIAL EVALUATION	277
XI. Subjective Evaluation of the Variables	279
XII. Self-Evaluation and Linguistic Security	315
XIII. General Attitudes Towards the Speech of New York City	338
IV. SYNTHESIS	357
XIV. The Structure of the New York City Vowel System	359

Glossary of Linguistic Symbols and Terminology	407
Bibliography	413
Appendix
A. Questionnaire for the ALS Survey	419
B. Anonymous Observations of Casual Speech	431
C. Analysis of Losses through Moving of the MFY Sample Population	438
D. Analysis of the Non-respondents: The Television Interview	446
E. The Out-of-Town Speakers	459
Index	471
Postscript	484