

Contents

Series Editor's Preface	ix
Preface	x
Phonetic Symbols	xiv
1 Dialects, Standards, and Vernaculars	1
1.1 Defining Dialect	2
1.2 Dialect: The Popular Viewpoint	2
1.3 Dialect Myths and Reality	7
1.4 Standards and Vernaculars	9
1.5 Vernacular Dialects	14
1.6 Labeling Vernacular Dialects	17
1.7 Why Study Dialects?	19
1.8 A Tradition of Study	23
1.9 Further Reading	26
2 Why Dialects?	28
2.1 Sociohistorical Explanation	29
2.1.1 Settlement	29
2.1.2 Migration	30
2.1.3 Geographical factors	31
2.1.4 Language contact	32
2.1.5 Economic ecology	34
2.1.6 Social stratification	35
2.1.7 Social interaction, social practices, and speech communities	36
2.1.8 Group and individual identity	41
2.2 Linguistic Explanation	43
2.2.1 Rule extension	46
2.2.2 Analogy	47

2.2.3	Transparency and grammaticalization	51
2.2.4	Pronunciation phenomena	54
2.2.5	Words and word meanings	60
2.3	The Final Product	62
2.4	Further Reading	63
3	Levels of Dialect	64
3.1	Lexical Differences	64
3.2	Slang	70
3.3	Phonological Differences	74
3.4	Grammatical Differences	85
3.5	Language Use and Pragmatics	93
3.6	Further Reading	101
4	Dialects in the United States: Past, Present, and Future	103
4.1	The First English(es) in America	104
4.2	Earlier American English: The Colonial Period	114
4.3	American English Extended	118
4.4	The Westward Expansion of English	122
4.5	The Present and Future State of American English	124
4.6	Further Reading	132
5	Regional Dialects	134
5.1	Eliciting Regional Dialect Forms	135
5.2	Mapping Regional Variants	138
5.3	The Distribution of Dialect Forms	140
5.4	Dialect Diffusion	153
5.5	Perceptual Dialectology	159
5.6	Region and Place	163
5.7	Further Reading	165
6	Social and Ethnic Dialects	167
6.1	Defining Class	168
6.2	Beyond Social Class	170
6.3	The Patterning of Social Differences in Language	172
6.4	Linguistic Constraints on Variability	177
6.5	The Social Evaluation of Linguistic Features	182
6.6	Social Class and Language Change	188
6.7	Ethnicity	190
6.8	Latino English	194

6.8.1	Chicano English	196
6.8.2	The range of Latino English	200
6.9	Cajun English	202
6.10	Lumbee English	206
6.11	Further Reading	209
7	African American English	211
7.1	The Status of European American and African American Vernaculars	213
7.2	The Origin and Early Development of AAE	219
7.3	The Contemporary Development of AAE	224
7.4	Conclusion	230
7.5	Further Reading	232
8	Gender and Language Variation	234
8.1	Gender-based Patterns of Variation as Reported in Dialect Surveys	237
8.2	Explaining General Patterns	241
8.3	Localized Expressions of Gender Relations	243
8.4	Communities of Practice: Linking the Local and the Global	245
8.5	Language-use-based Approaches: The “Female Deficit” Approach	248
8.6	The “Cultural Difference” Approach	253
8.7	The “Dominance” Approach	255
8.8	Further Implications	256
8.9	Talking about Men and Women	257
	8.9.1 Generic he and man	258
	8.9.2 Family names and addresses	259
	8.9.3 Relationships of association	260
	8.9.4 Labeling	260
8.10	The Question of Language Reform	262
8.11	Further Reading	264
9	Dialects and Style	266
9.1	Types of Style Shifting	266
9.2	Attention to Speech	271
	9.2.1 The patterning of stylistic variation across social groups	272
	9.2.2 Limitations of the attention to speech approach	276

9.3	Audience Design	279
9.3.1	The effects of audience on speech style	281
9.3.2	Limitations of the audience design approach	283
9.3.3	Newer approaches to audience design	285
9.4	Speaker Design Approaches	286
9.5	Further Considerations	290
9.6	Further Reading	291
10	On the Applications of Dialect Study	294
10.1	Applied Dialectology	294
10.2	Dialects and Testing	296
10.2.1	Language achievement	297
10.2.2	Speech and language development tests	301
10.2.3	Predicting dialect interference	303
10.3	Testing Language	304
10.3.1	Using language to access information	305
10.3.2	The testing situation	308
10.3.3	The language diagnostician	310
10.4	Teaching Standard English	312
10.4.1	What standard?	312
10.4.2	Approaches to standard English	316
10.4.3	Can standard English be taught?	318
10.5	Further Reading	327
11	Dialect Awareness: Extending Application	329
11.1	Dialects and Reading	329
11.1.1	Dialect readers	333
11.2	Dialect Influence in Written Language	335
11.3	Written Dialect	339
11.4	Proactive Dialect Awareness Programs	344
11.5	A Curriculum on Dialects	346
11.6	Community-based Dialect Awareness Programs	354
11.7	Scrutinizing Community Partnerships	356
11.8	Further Reading	359
	Appendix: An Inventory of Distinguishing Dialect Features	361
	Glossary	385
	References	410
	Index	432