

Contents

Introduction: Negotiating the Question ix

Part One: Manners of Speaking 1

1. Identification and Difference: Structures of Privilege in Cultural Criticism 3
2. "For Every Gesture of Loyalty, There Doesn't Have to Be a Betrayal": Asian American Criticism and the Politics of Locality 30
3. Personal Criticism and the Academic Personality 56
4. A Black Man's Place(s) in Black Feminist Criticism 70

Part Two: Speaking Parts 93

5. The Problem of Speaking for Others 97
6. Subjectivity, Experience, and Knowledge: An Epistemology from/for Rainbow Coalition Politics 120
7. Subjects, Knowledges, . . . and All the Rest: Speaking for What? 137

Part Three: Political Grammar 151

8. Fetishism, Identity, Politics 155
9. Speaking with the Dead 165

10. Buckling Down or Knuckling Under: Discipline or Punish in Lesbian and Gay Studies 180

Part 4: Figures of Speech 193

11. The Vicar and Virago: Feminism and the Problem of Identity 195

12. The Joke and the Hoax: (Not) Speaking as the Other 208

13. Bodies and Pleasures in Queer Theory 221

14. Speak for Yourself 231

Contributors 239

Index 243