

Contents

Preface	vii
1. Cultural and Literary Background: The Type of American Experience	1
2. Nineteenth-Century Fiction: Themes and Patterns	45
3. James Fenimore Cooper: The History and the Myth of American Civilization	84
4. Nathaniel Hawthorne: Heir and Critic of the Puritan Tradition	139
5. Herman Melville: The New-World Voyager	214
6. Huckleberry Finn : A Southwestern Statement	280
7. Concluding Note: Social Reality and the Form of American Fiction	305
References	325
Index	335