

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	I
1 General Observations	7
Historical Background	7
Whitman, Longfellow, and Japan	11
The Turn of the Century: Japonisme	21
In Search of Japanese Values	28
2 Amy Lowell and Adelaide Crapsey	35
Lowell and Japan	35
The Cinquains of Crapsey	51
3 Ezra Pound	58
Pound's Interest in the Orient	58
Pound and Fenollosa: Cathay	62
Nō Plays and The Cantos	99
The Seven Lakes Canto	105
4 Kenneth Rexroth	121
The Phoenix and the Tortoise	122
Beyond the Mountains	128
San Francisco Renaissance	131
The Heart's Garden / The Garden's Heart	133
Later Poems	144
5 Gary Snyder and Other Poets	154
The Postwar United States and Japan	154
Richard Wright and His Haiku	156
Richard Wilbur's Genie in the Bottle	162
The American Haiku	166
Allen Ginsberg and Haiku	170
Gary Snyder in Japan	173
Conclusion	205
Notes	211
Bibliography	243
Index	257