

Contents

List of Illustrations ix

Preface xi

INTRODUCTION Whose Plot Is It, Anyway? 1

PART I From the Antebellum to the Progressive Era

CHAPTER 1 Workers in the Wings: Antebellum Fictions 17

CHAPTER 2 I'm Looking through You: Working Men from Status Quo to Knights of Labor Fiction 43

CHAPTER 3 Labor's Ladies: Work Fiction and True Women from Antebellum Lowell through the Gilded Age 65

CHAPTER 4 Taking to Their Streets: Ethnic Cultures and Labor
Texts in the Sociological 1890s 91

CHAPTER 5 Beastmen and Labor Experts: Fiction and the Problem of Authority from 1900 to 1917 115

CHAPTER 6 Facing the Unwomanly: Sweatshop and Sex Shop in Progressive Era Labor Fiction 139

PART II The Road to 1930

CHAPTER 7 The Hungry Eye: Desire and Disaffection in 1920s
Labor Fiction 169

CHAPTER 8 From Black Folk to Working Class: African American
Labor Fiction between the World Wars 195

CHAPTER 9 Heroic at Last: Depression Era Fictions 217

PART III After the Proletarian Moment

- CHAPTER 10 What Was Your Crime?: Representing Labor in the HUAC Era 247
- CHAPTER 11 The Usable Past: Jobs, Myths, and Three Racial-Ethnic Literatures of the Civil Rights Era 279
- CHAPTER 12 Working-Class Twilight: White Labor Texts of the Civil Rights and Vietnam Decades 299
- CONCLUSION Everything Old Is New Again: Working Through Class in the Literary 1990s 317
- Notes 341
- Index 447